Sharp Confirms China Deal

Near-Record Wheat Sale

TORONTO (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp confirmed Monday night that Canada has signed with Communist China one of the biggest wheat-sale contracts in history, worth more than $400,000,000.

Arriving for a political meeting in his riding of Toronto-Eglinton, the Liberal minister said estimates of the size of the deal by sources in the grain trade—225,000,000 bushels worth about $400,000,000—were the minimum value of the contract.

Canada signed a contract in 1963 with the Soviet Union for 250,000,000 bushels. Mr. Sharp declined to give further details pending scheduled formal announcement Thursday giving credit arrangements.

Pakistan Charges 'Nazi Acts'

India Snubs UN Sitting

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Pakistan has accused India of carrying out wholesale extermination in Kashmir on a scale comparable to the Nazi massacre of Jews in Germany.

In an impassioned and highly emotional plea before an emergency session of the security council, marked by India's walkout during a recess, Pakistan Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto accused India of having "no conscience—no integrity."

Appealing for the security council to take steps toward a political settlement of the Kashmir dispute, Bhutto warned that "if the United Nations remains unmoved, Pakistan will take up the challenge and will be prepared for the ultimate consequences of life or destruction."

He accused India of taking advantage of the month-old UN-ordered cease-fire "to exterminate the population of certain areas in Jammu and Kashmir."

Soviet ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko protested the build-up of UN military observers along the Kashmir ceasefire line and called for their withdrawal from Kashmir "within three months."

U.S. ambassador Arthur Goldberg, supporting secretary-general Thant, quickly countered the Soviet protest by stating the U.S. fully supports the Security Council action in the Asian subcontinent.

Referring to the Nazi extermination of Jews in Germany, Bhutto accused India of "perpetrating similar acts" in Kashmir.

Noting the walkout of Indian Foreign Minister Swaran Singh—"He does not want to hear the truth"—Bhutto said that his country was not prepared to face "extermination or dishonor."

"The people of Jammu and Kashmir are a part of us," he said.

41 Afro-Asians

Peking Stand Rebuked

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Algeria has informed delegates attending the Afro-Asian summit's preparatory committee here that 41 countries have agreed to attend the conference Nov. 5.

The Algerian report came Monday as China stepped up its offensive to have the twice-postponed summit meeting adjourned a third time.

An official Algerian statement did not say at what level the 41 countries would be represented at the Algiers conference.

Delegates who attended Sunday's committee meeting said China appeared more determined than ever to postpone the summit, and to prevent the discussion going before the Afro-Asian foreign ministers who are due to meet here Thursday.

Dejection at Houston space centre

Target Goes Astray

Failure Stymies Space Hunters

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Two dejected Gemini space hunters were stymied Monday before they got started—their intended space target lost somewhere short of orbit, broken and perhaps burned to bits in its fall from the sky.

"No joy, no joy," was the epitaph sounded by the radar men scanning the orbital path intended for the Agena target vehicle. The 103,000-mile space chase—a rendezvous-and-docking mission—was postponed until probably early next year.

DISAPPOINTMENT

"Disappointment" echoed in every statement from United States space officials. Still in the Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft on the ground when the scrub was announced, command pilot Walter Schirra said: "Gee, I'm sorry." Later on the ground, he told the launch crew:

"It was a beautiful spacecraft and had conditions been otherwise, we're confident we could have gone without a sweat."

NO HOLD UP

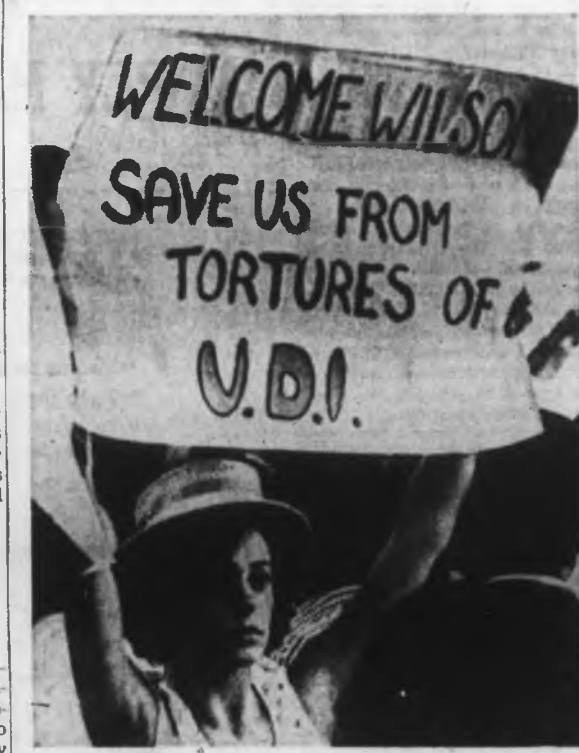

But both Robert Seamans, associate director of the U.S. space agency, and Robert C. Gilruth, head of the manned spacecraft centre, said the failure would not hold up the U.S. man-to-the-moon program.

Asked whether the failure would give the Russians a lead in the race to link up vehicles in space, manned flight chief George Mueller said: "Clearly,"

Avert Rhodesian Tragedy

Negroes Cheer Wilson But Smith Stays Home

White girl greets Wilson for native cause

SALISBURY (AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Wilson arrived here Monday night for a showdown with Rhodesia's Prime Minister Ian Smith, saying he had come "to avert a tragedy."

While 6,000 Negroes cheered him, the British leader made it clear that he wants at all costs to head off a grab for independence by Smith's white Rhodesian government.

He told an airport press conference: "I want to do everything possible to avert a tragedy if a certain action were to be taken. That is why I am here."

Wilson refused to say what counter-measures the British government would take if the Rhodesian government took the plunge for independence from Britain.

Wilson's government has warned it would consider any unilateral declaration of independence tantamount to treason and rebellion by Smith's government, which rules 4,000,000 Negroes and 250,000 whites.

Smith was not at the airport to receive Wilson, but Rhodesian officials said protocol did not demand Smith's presence. Deputy Prime Minister Clifford Walter DuPont was the chief Rhodesian official in the airport receiving line.

Mucky Job, Politics

Peace Unit, Tanks In Show of Force

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—About 2,000 inter-American peace force troops, backed by American tanks, moved into the rebel area of this Dominican capital Monday on a peace-forging mission.

Bands of youths ran through the streets shouting slogans against the United States and Brazil, whose soldiers make up most of the force. Once when a crowd gathered, Brazilian troops put on gas masks ready to hurl tear gas. But there were no incidents.

PARTISANS ANGRY

The operation was ordered by Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy and whipped up the anger of rebel partisans in the heart of the city. Three shots rang out during the early part of the pre-dawn move but there was no official word as to what the shooting was about.

The troops were called in to put an end to a wave of violence that has claimed more than nine civilian lives in the city in the last week. The deaths, resulting from shooting incidents, demonstrated that a considerable number of weapons remain in the hands of civilians.

SEARCH PROBABLE

There were reliable reports that a vigorous search for arms would be undertaken during the next two days.

The move appeared to have paralysed almost all business activity in the centre of the city. Most government offices were closed, the presidential palace was nearly deserted.

Sixty Cubans Reach Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Sixty Cuban refugees, including 17 children, arrived Monday night in the first boat to reach Florida since last Friday and the U.S. Coast Guard rescued 27 others from choppy seas.

Besieged Camp Finally Freed

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Vietnamese government armored column backed by U.S. troops and artillery has broken the seven-day Viet Cong siege of the battered special forces camp at Plei Me. The column that began arriving Monday night consolidated its position just outside the camp and at dawn today reported only sporadic fire from the Viet Cong during the night. U.S. troops, in a sweep to the west and north of Plei Me, engaged a retreating Viet Cong platoon of between 35 and 50 men.

The Viet Cong's week-long offensive apparently was designed to clear supply lines from Laos and North Viet Nam. A U.S. military informant in Pleiku said the Plei Me defenders—300 Montagnard tribesmen and a dozen U.S. advisers—together with air attacks, had knocked out about 750 of the 1,200-man Communist force.

Trial Recessed

Monk's Killer Collapses

NEW YORK (AP)—Exiled Russian Prince Felix Youssouppoff, 79, assassin of the mad monk Rasputin in Czarist Russia, collapsed Monday while testifying about that historic death a half-century ago.

A court attendant and a police emergency squad administered oxygen to him and a nurse and a doctor were called to the courtroom.

The judge recessed the trial until today, telling jurors that Youssouppoff is "feeling much better, but under all the circumstances it is better for him to rest today."

Youssouppoff, suing the Columbia Broadcasting System for $1,500,000 because of a television program about the assassination, had been in the witness box for about a half-hour.

He was being cross-examined about whether he had used his wife, Princess Irina, to lure Rasputin to his palace in St. Petersburg where the monk was slain Dec. 17, 1916.

CBS lawyer Carleton D. Eldridge referred the prince to his own book, Rasputin, giving Youssouppoff's account of the celebrated assassination. The lawyer questioned Youssouppoff about a passage in the book saying "I am ashamed of the despicable deed and horrible treachery to which I was to resort" in getting Rasputin to the palace.

Eldridge repeatedly was pressing the prince—"what did you refer to?"—when the witness collapsed.

Reds Send Fake Oils and Is Paris Burning!

PARIS—Art and politics do not mix. When they do the result can make tempers rise and faces turn scarlet.

This is the case in Paris now

in connection with the much-publicized exhibit of 100 French painting masterpieces loaned to the famed Louvre Museum by the Soviet Union.

The exhibit already had been shown in Bordeaux where it was a great success. In Paris it has attracted thousands of visitors since it opened in September. They have lined up at the Louvre to gaze at French paintings which had never been seen publicly in France.

The paintings shown were part of Russian collections from the days of Catherine the Great to the Soviet revolution.

The exhibit had been arranged under the auspices of Cultural Minister Andre Malraux, one of President Charles de Gaulle's closest associates. It was being held on an exchange basis, with the Louvre sending to the Soviet Union 50 of its most celebrated paintings.

The exchange was part of a thaw in Franco-Soviet relations that has seen the establishment of closer political, cultural and economic bonds between the two nations.

But obviously this was not stressed. Only art was officially involved.

Paris art critics generally expressed approval of the show, especially as affording the French public an opportunity to see for the first time the works of famous French artists.

Alexis Caron is seeking re-election.

Thirty-six women are in the running, seven more than in 1963. Among them are the four women who captured Commons seats in the general balloting two years ago — Conservative Jean Waddis in Grenville, Liberal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh in Niagara Falls, Liberal Pauline Jewett in Northumberland, all in Ontario, and Liberal Margaret Konantz in Winnipeg, South.

Two other women, Liberal Margaret Rideout in New Brunswick's Westmorland riding and Elsie Jones in Saskatchewan, won byelections after the 1963 election and are seeking a return to the Commons.

There were no last-minute changes in ridings where the various party leaders are contesting seats.

Prime Minister Pearson is in a three-man battle in Ontario's Algoma East against Broadcaster Joel Aldred, a Conservative, and NDP candidate Walter Stuart.

PC leader Diefenbaker takes on three candidates in Prince Albert, Sask., including Liberal Lenore Andrews, wife of a Prince Albert doctor.

T. C. Douglas of the New Democrats will defend his Burnaby-Cootnam riding in British Columbia against three other candidates, as will Social Credit chief Robert Thompson in Red Deer, Alta., and Credit leader Real Caouette in Quebec's Villeneuve.

One of Mr. Thompson's opponents is Hazel Braithwaite of the NDP who has 21 grandchildren.

said. "We cannot and shall not stand by as silent spectators while India, with seeming impunity, proceeds to wreak vengeance upon them," Bhutto declared.

CALL FOR PLEBISCITE

He called again for a plebiscite to determine the political future of the disputed area in the Asian subcontinent. However, Bhutto refrained from repeating warnings that Pakistan will quit the world body if it does not proceed to consider a political settlement "within a reasonable length of time."

Bhutto formally reiterated a Pakistani proposal that the UN create a "fact finding committee" in order to see for themselves what is happening in Kashmir. He said secretary general Thant should consider a second trip to the war area "to end this intolerable situation."

Your Good Health

Walking Best Mild Exercise, Always Good for Tone Up

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I walk fast 32 blocks to work every day, and have always walked a lot during my adult life.

My husband says walking is the worst possible exercise for a person, that it does not keep the weight down, that it is causing my hips and thighs to be larger.

I disagree with him because I start getting soft when I don't walk for a week or two, and I don't have facilities or time for sports or other exercises at home.

If my husband is right, I want to know. If he is wrong, I want an answer for the next time he tells me to take the bus instead of walking.—MRS. B.T. I don't know where your husband got such an idea. There probably is no mild exercise that is better than walking—especially briskly. You tone up muscles of legs, hips, back, arms, shoulders, and even the neck. You stimulate circulation and breathing.

WEIGHT CONTROL

You don't use up as much energy as in some strenuous exercise, and hence don't lose as much weight. But you always help control weight when you burn up energy in any form of exercise.

That "rump-sprung look" comes from too much sitting, not too much walking.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 36 and have just had a hysterectomy, including removal of both ovaries. How does this compare with normal menopause? Should I expect hot flashes or such problems?—MRS. L.E. Menopause symptoms are caused by the natural and gradual cessation of activity of the ovaries. When they are removed, it amounts to the same thing except that hormone supply from them ceases abruptly. The result is surgical menopause and the only difference is what causes it, and when.

HOT FLASHES

This does not mean that hot flashes or other symptoms will begin instantly after the operation. They appear rather as part of your system's readjustment to a new and different hormonal or glandular balance.

So far as that goes, I don't think you should expect such symptoms. Rather, don't be surprised if you have them, or if you don't. Your letter mentions a medication you are taking. This contains estrogenic, or female hormones, and the purpose is to prevent you from having such symptoms.

All-Party Ban Urged

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Indonesian defence minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution urged President Sukarno Monday to ban all political parties and other mass organizations that supported the unsuccessful attempt to overthrow him.

Nasution stopped short of mentioning the 3,000,000-member Indonesian Communist party by name, but there seemed little doubt his remarks were aimed at the Communists.

Target Lost

they have a better chance now than they had this morning."

The failure of the Agena target vehicle Monday could bring an earlier firing of the 14-day Gemini 7 space Marathon, perhaps by Nov. 25. It had been scheduled for December.

Astronauts Schirra and Thomas Stafford were ready for launch in their Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft on launch pad 19 when the Atlas booster rocket with a brilliant orange fire-trail shot up from pad 14 more than a mile away to lift the Agena space target towards orbit.

ABRUPT LOSS

Barely more than six minutes later, the first bad news came. There was an abrupt loss in telemetry from the Agena. It was unknown whether the Agena rocket mechanism had fired after separation from the Atlas, whether it would go into orbit. This was followed by a loss in all contact with the Agena rocket.

The mission was scrubbed at 11:54 a.m., EDT—54 minutes after the Agena had been launched.

The Gemini 6 astronauts will fly back to Houston today and they may get a couple of weeks vacation.

The Atlas-Agena had worked many times before. It had sent Ranger vehicles to photograph the moon. It had carried Mariner vehicles to Mars and Venus.

The farthest that man has reached into the solar system in more than 175 flights it had placed military satellites into earth orbits.

ASK CHANGES

The space agency had asked for changes to give the rocket a better maneuvering capability—so that in future Gemini shots it could provide the power, after link-up in space, for wide-ranging changes of orbit.

The modified version had never been flight-tested before and this was in effect a test flight for it. It will be five to 10 days before flight officials can tell exactly what the trouble was, if then, they said.

CZECHS WORK HARD

With only 14,000,000 people, 0.50 per cent of the world's population, Czechoslovakia accounts for 2 per cent of the world's industry.

Fake Soviet Art Shocks Paris spoiled the broth by writing the Paris newspaper Le Figaro a letter claiming that 15 of the works attributed to famous painters were fakes.

"Of the 50 oldest paintings in the show, 15 are undeniably apocryphal," he said. "Some were not even painted in the lifetime of the artists to which they are attributed."

Wildenstein made a point-by-point analysis of the various paintings which he said were not authentic. Among them were alleged "masterpieces" by Claude Lorraine, Boucher, Watteau, Courbet, Poussin, David and Ingres.

In the case of a portrait of Ingres by David, he declared flatly: "It is not a portrait of Ingres and it is not by David."

This sent the Paris art world into a tizzy. Critics and other art experts returned for a second look. Most agreed with Wildenstein's judgment.

Further investigation then disclosed that the Louvre Museum's board of directors had opposed showing the Soviet exhibit and the sending of its own paintings to Moscow.

The immediate conclusion was that Malraux personally had insisted on it and overruled the museum's board of directors, obviously for reasons related to the cause of Franco-Soviet friendship.

The question asked then was how it was possible for the Louvre Museum's experts, among the most qualified in the world, to have been fooled by paintings which now appear to be fakes.

The answer is that they were not. The Louvre published a catalogue which had a question mark after the identification of some of the works. But this was done in only a few cases.

Beyond this timid manifestation of their feelings, they obviously felt called upon to be discreet.

Another question asked was why Soviet art experts themselves sent fakes to Paris in an exhibit obviously intended to please and impress the French public in a goodwill gesture.

There were two answers.

● Soviet museums were not anxious to send too many first-rate works which always run the danger of damage in such trips.

● They lacked discrimination themselves or underestimated the knowledgeability of the Paris public.

The result has been that sensitive Parisians now feel that they have been slighted in the exchange of exhibits. The Bourdeaux art lovers who did not exhibit obviously felt rather silly.

The whole affair has turned sour. It now seems obvious that art will not serve as a path to better Franco-Soviet relations.

To UNICEF

Peace Prize Given

OSLO (AP) — The Nobel peace prize was awarded Monday to UNICEF — the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund — dedicated to feeding and helping children in more than 100 countries.

The $55,000 award was announced by the five-member committee of the Norwegian Parliament.

As usual, the committee did not explain its choice. Under the 1895 will of Dr. Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite, the peace prize was to go annually "to the person who shall have most or best promoted the fraternity of nations and the abolishment or reduction of standing armies and the formation and extension of peace congresses."

NOMINATIONS

The executive director of the fund is Henry R. Labouisse, a former U.S. ambassador to Greece and a director of the International co-operation administration.

There were 31 nominations for the prize this year, including UN Secretary-General U Thant. The prize went last year to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the American Negro civil rights leader.

FOUNDED 1946

The prize, along with a gold medal, will be presented here Dec. 10. It is the eighth time the prize has gone to an organization. The International Red Cross won it in 1963.

Depending on voluntary contributions from governments and individuals, UNICEF was founded by the UN General Assembly Dec. 11, 1946, to help child victims of the Second World War in Europe and Asia.

REQUESTS

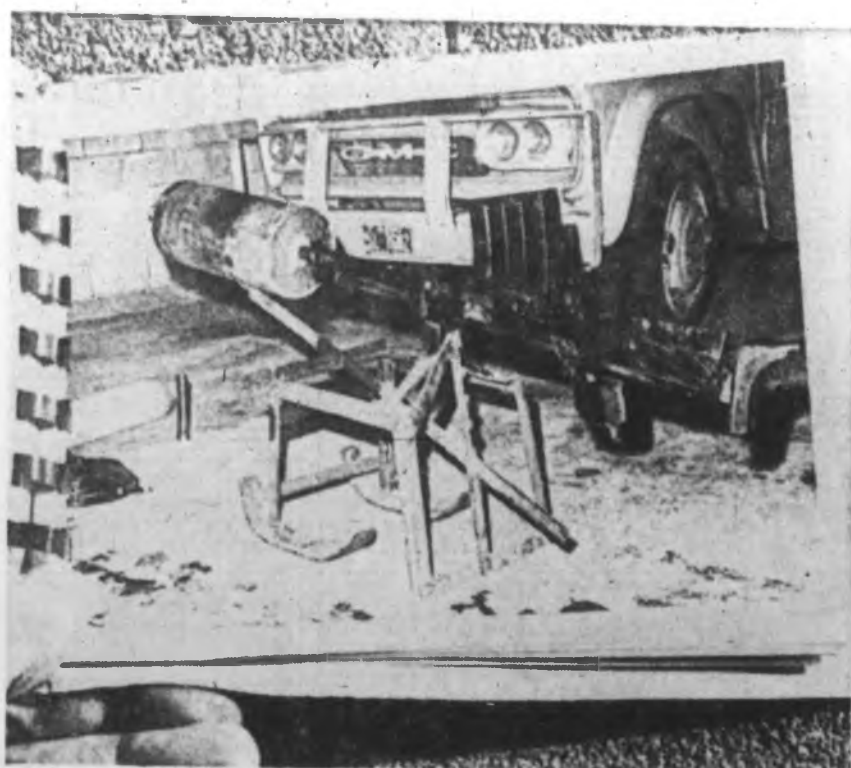

The task of the fund was broadened by the assembly in 1950 to aid children in all underdeveloped countries. Three years later it became a permanent UN organization.

UNICEF aid now amounts to $32,900,000 a year. Its 30 area offices try to handle the requests for help that pour in from the poor countries of the world.

IN OSLO

Nobel's will provides that the peace prize be awarded by the Norwegian Parliament. The four other Nobel prizes are awarded in Stockholm.

The prize for physics was awarded this year to Julian Schwinger of Harvard University, Richard Feynman of the California Institute of Technology and Sin-Itiro Tomonaga of Japan. The chemistry prize went to professor Robert Burns Woodward of Harvard. Soviet novelist Mikhail Sholokhov won the literature prize and three French professors, Francois Jacob, Andre Lwoff and Jacques Monod, shared the prize for medicine.

Cannon Used to Blast Vault

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Burglars hauled a cannon into the Brink's Incorporated office here during the week-end, blasted open a two-foot-thick vault and vanished with $400,000 in loot, police reported Monday.

Deputy Police Chief Samuel Nappi and other police officers said the method of entry had the marks of an unsuccessful attempt at a Brink's office in Quebec City last March.

The thieves here used mattresses to muffle the roar of their 20-millimetre weapon. Residents near the business section later reported hearing unusual noises, but apparently no one suspected a safebreaking-by-cannon was afoot.

Frank Steier, the office manager, told police he believed about 75 per cent of the loot was in cheques and the rest in cash. He said there was no company employee in the building between 4 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Steier said it was possible but unlikely that the thieves would attempt to cash any of the cheques—most of which are negotiable—at a bank. A Brink's official said the thieves left behind $100,000 in coins.

A retired police detective who lives in the area said he was awakened by booming noises at about 3 a.m. Monday, but assumed the sounds were thunder.

A swarm of detectives and FBI agents pored over the clues left by the burglars—about 30 brass shell-casings, a support used to mount the cannon, a gas torch and four dust masks. The cannon was not found.

Police refused to say whether they had any ideas as to the identities of the burglars.

In Albany, an FBI spokesman said his agency was checking the possibility that the gun might be one of two 20-millimetre anti-tank guns stolen from a railway express office in Plattsburgh last April 12.

The stolen cannons had been shipped from an arms store in Alexandria, Va., to a fictitious name and address in Plattsburgh, near the U.S.-Canadian border.

Talks Over France

Market Progresses

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Common Market ministers made some progress at talks on how to end the crisis in the economic community and bring France back to the conference table.

Sources said the ministers discussed financing of agricultural policy but did not tackle the all-important political questions also holding up progress.

The political aspects were discussed informally at a dinner given by the Italian delegation in a secluded restaurant near Brussels.

France boycotted the meeting, as she has all Common Market activity since she walked out last July accusing her partners of not honoring commitments on the farm policy.

As he left the conference Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak said smilingly, "We have not taken any giant steps. But you must remember that the escargot (French snail) is also part of the agricultural policy."

"We are trying to bring France back to the conference table on conditions which are honorable for us and which will not jeopardize the community," he added.

The ministers met for one hour in open session and then went into a restricted meeting for three and a half hours.

Dutch sources said the absence of a West German agricultural and finance minister prevented any important progress being made.

The Germans are expected to submit proposals, notably concerning the sharing of the estimate $1.3 billion costs of the farm policy to Bonn.

Ex-United Church Minister's Appeal

Horsburgh's Judge 'Made Mistakes'

TORONTO (CP) — The lawyer, Russell D. Horsburgh claimed Monday that a whole series of mistakes were made at the trial of the United Church minister sentenced to a year in prison last year on conviction of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Charles L. Dubin of Toronto argued before the Ontario Appeal Court that the trial judge at Chatham made some "startling" findings and "completely fundamental errors" in dealing with the evidence of teenagers who testified the pastor encouraged them to have sexual intercourse in his church.

SEE FEW CLOUDS

Much of Saudi Arabia has less than an inch of rainfall yearly, compared with 20 to 40 inches for Europe as a whole.

The 45-year-old Mr. Horsburgh—who has since resigned from the ministry—was charged with eight counts relating to 24 occasions in which juveniles were alleged to have committed sex acts or were encouraged to have them at Chatham's Park Street United Church between July, 1963, and June, 1964.

He was convicted on five charges by Judge W. H. Roy in juvenile court and sentenced to a year on each count, the terms to run concurrently. Mr. Horsburgh, who has been free on $2,500 bail pending appeal, now is in jail at Chatham for the duration of the appeal court proceedings that began Monday.

Mr. Dubin also told the three-man court panel that he will seek to make use of affidavits sworn to since the trial by a 16-year-old girl and a 20-year-old youth who testified for the Crown at the trial.

He did not refer to the contents of the documents, but it has been reported that two witnesses retracted some of their evidence against the then minister. The Crown has subpoenaed the girl and youth to appear at the hearing.

UNSAVORY

In his argument Monday, Mr. Dubin hammered at the credibility of the 14 young Crown witnesses—most of them in the under-16 juvenile class at the

The Door Is Open

WHILE WE MAY be full of admiration and generous with praise for the arts and crafts of the Indians, it is the responsibility of authority to encourage this ethnic group in wider cultural directions.

The recent announcement by Mr. L. J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, that Indian carvers have been invited to produce twenty 12-foot totems to be installed on the section of the Route of the Haidas from Victoria to Port Hardy, and that more of their work may be required for figureheads and emblems in the B.C. government's ferry fleet, will be welcomed by the public as well as the artists.

Such works of art have been called B.C.'s most colorful. One might maintain that they are amongst the most distinctive across the nation. And while men speak of the desirability of encouragement of a biculturalism in this country it would be of even greater benefit to espouse a multi-culturalism, which would include those aspects of Indian skill and history which have so intrigued all who know even a little about them.

The Indian race has a high potential for a contribution to the whole society. In the main, these people have only been exposed to what we choose to call our civilization for a relatively short time. They have been confined. They have not been assimilated. They have been very seriously handicapped in reaching an appreciation of a way of life which is generally considered more advanced, more gracious and more comfortable than that their fathers knew.

But very slowly they are drawing closer; and not because of any particular encouragement on the part of the whites, but because of their own desires and ambitions, their pride and growing confidence.

A most significant development and an indication of their increasing inclination to higher education was the meeting last Saturday between Indian leaders and the faculty and student body of the University of Victoria. It is the first instance of the Indians' tentative approach to this level of learning with a view to taking full advantage of facilities available to the young men and women of their race.

This means the dawning of awareness of opportunity. More than that, it means acceptance of a new responsibility in the development of a nation in which the Indian has just as great a stake as any other citizen of any other race. This is a trend which will hasten fuller emancipation of a people too long considered, if not inferior, at least less progressive than the newcomers to this continent.

Saanich Program

SAANICH WILL put before its property-owners in the December elections a capital projects program that, particularly because of its land-purchase and road-building aspects, merits their strong support. The vote, unfortunately, will not come in the most propitious circumstances.

The five-year, $2,750,000 program includes as major elements the buying of recreational and "green space" property while it is still available, which takes up 40 per cent of the budget, and the construction and reconstruction of McKenzie Avenue between Ruby Road and Douglas Street at a cost of $951,000. These and the lesser items—two outdoor swimming pools, a drainage project in the Bowker Creek basin, and a generous fund for contingencies—would cost the ratepayers at the outside another two mills on their annual tax rates, according to the council's estimates; another $10 a year on a home with a taxable assessment of $5,000.

Were this the only tax increase in prospect in Saanich, the chances are that the program would find ready acceptance. But it is not.

Also in December, presumably, the electors of Saanich will be asked if they wish to participate in regional financing of hospital construction through the joint services board. And if this becomes a function of the board, the annual hospital levy in the municipality can be expected to exceed another two mills. (The council, incidentally, owes it to the taxpayers to work out the exact rate and let them know.)

The teachers of the Greater Victoria district are seeking a salary increase which if granted in full—though it is not apt to be—would add a further three mills to the rate; and other wage costs of the municipality also undoubtedly will rise.

Thus the question looms large how much the property-owners will be willing to bite off at this time. But still they must ask themselves if there is any profit in postponing the inevitable while costs rise, or in denying themselves the amenities that will keep their municipality a good place of residence.

A False Image

THE REPRESENTATION of Communist China as a peace-loving democracy, without expansionist ambitions or a desire to lead other nations along the path of revolution, will deceive no one who has not already accepted the doctrine Peking preaches.

Yet Dr. James G. Endicott, president of the Canadian Peace Congress, continues to justify China's aggressive propaganda and shut his eyes to instances of belligerent intervention in world affairs.

Basically, the heterogeneous peasant population, which comprises the bulk of China's 800,000,000 people, is peaceable, like any other close to the soil.

But by indoctrination, through the teaching of hatred and distrust, Mao Tze-tung and his oligarchy have succeeded in creating a warlike nationalism, actually contrary to the whole idea of international brotherhood and love so piously preached by the theorists.

Not even Dr. Endicott, one would think, can believe that China's integrity is threatened by any other nation. Yet Peking maintains the largest army in the world and the expansion of its armament industry is accelerated at the expense of projects more essential to the comfort and general well-being of the people.

China has said she will not join the United Nations—even if invited—unless the world body expels those nations of which Peking disapproves and names the United States an aggressor in the old Korean war. Such attitudes are not those of a nation ardently desirous of achieving peaceful coexistence.

All the whitewash in Dr. Endicott's bucket is not going to disguise the color of Peking's coat nor will his protestations alter the fact that China, by her own admission, seeks to lead a revolution aimed at the destruction of the democracy defended by the powers and the peoples of the West.

Leaders Woo the Sympathetic Vote

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonist Ottawa Bureau

NOTES from the Campaign Trail:
Who likes Mike?
Or follows John?
Who, in short, votes for whom?

Ask the Backroom Boys, they will tell you.
Claim they have the correct answers, too, and maybe they have, since Liberal and Conservative alike, they tally, duplicating or confirming each other.

These organization men in the command posts of both camps have added it up from calculations based on the last two elections.

The last two, because the 1962 and '63 votes were both close.

Too close, since both prime ministers, first Mr. Diefenbaker and then Mr. Pearson, finding it impossible to do politically profitable business with a minority Parliament, called early elections—early that is, on the basis of what used to be any government's "normal" four-out-of-five-year term of office.

The Backroom Boys didn't both punch cards for the computers on the basis of the '57 and '58 elections, for each was a freak.

In '57, the political clock finally had run out, after 22 years, on the Liberals.

Infinitely weary and perhaps even unwell, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, unaware of his party's deep inner rot, watched, helpless, as his ancient government, inherited from Mecklenburg, tottered to its collapse. Mr. John Diefenbaker, then still untested in his new leadership, uncertain of picking up the pieces, scarcely gathered up enough to put together a minority government with men who had been in the Opposition wilderness since '35.

Then in '58, Mr. Lester Pearson stood amid the still-unleashed ruin of the previous year's Liberal disaster, an untested and even more uncertain new leader, and unable to do anything but the fearsome face of the 208-seat Diefenbaker avalanche.

But '62 and '63 were different. All but stand-offs. And just what the political statisticians ordered for backroom post-mortems.

These inquiries produced the same basic verdict for both Conservatives and Liberals.

Essentially, they determined, the two elections had split the vote along both racial and, more oddly, age lines.

It was among the English Protestants in the rural areas, the towns and smaller cities, and with the older voters that the Conservatives each time found their warmest support.

They were weakest among Catholics, French-Canadians and the various large and growing ethnic groups in the larger cities, particularly the massive "metro" areas of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

And where, of course, the Conservatives were weakest, the Liberals, except for strangely politically offbeat backwoods Quebec, were strong.

The ethnic groups gave the Conservatives scarcely one-quarter of their large vote, swinging a shade short of 40 per cent of their ballot to the Liberals.

Other big special population groups in which the Conservatives lacked strength were the university students and the just-out-of-college types, the labor unions and the first-time voters.

The over-21 and under-30 votes were Liberal, the 30- and 40-year-olds split about evenly. Grit and Brix, the 40 to 50-year bracket leaned three to one for Pearson, while the over-50 vote was a Diefenbaker monopoly.

The young vote is the growing and potentially changing one. The older vote is diminishing, but solid as a rock.

By 50, claim the Backroom Boys, political loyalty has hardened. The reflex is Conservative and the ballot is marked almost automatically.

Odd, in the face of this, has been one aspect of the inner-tries of both leaders. Each, when off the platform, has shown a special preference for a special group of voters. Mr. Pearson plays up to the university crowd. He makes his best pitch personally on the campus. Mr. Diefenbaker courts the elderly and shines his brightest in the homes for the aged.

You'd think each man would go where he needs the votes most. But no. Each seems instinctively to reach for reassurances where the welcome is warmest.

Change on Hungary's Border

By FREDERICK SCHEU, from Vienna

WHAT the West has called the Iron Curtain, ever since Winston Churchill used the term 20 years ago, the Hungarians call "frontier fortifications." Anyone who has seen the multiple barbed wire barrier on the Austro-Hungarian border near Lake Neusiedl and the menacing watch-towers on the Hungarian side, will discount the quibble.

For the purpose was not to protect Hungary from external assault, but to prevent the exodus of Hungarians to the West.

Moves the Hungarians are now making behind this section of the wire will no doubt be represented differently to the Hungarian people, since their Communist masters have never admitted there is an Iron Curtain to demolish, and they will not now wish to give open encouragement to citizens who still wish to leave the country for good.

The Hungarians have announced only that the "frontier fortifications" are being replaced by other "technical devices." It seems that they are first removing the minefield behind the barbed wire. This has a purpose, because flooding after heavy rain has washed mines across the frontier into Austria and some have exploded, injuring Austrian citizens. The barbed wire is also being reduced in depth in some places, and at one point the Austrian border guards report that the Hungarians are even building a road.

The impulse to escape from Hungary has much diminished as economic conditions under Vienna is a natural reviving door for Eastern Europe. The trickle of tourists from the Communist east already has some economic importance. Hungarians travelling abroad are allowed to take very little money out of the country, but they are allowed to take back home a certain amount of Western goods. This is a useful method of importing because it is financed by money outside Hungary—from friends, relatives, or secret funds.

In Vienna there have sprung up unobtrusively many small shops specializing in the Hungarian tourist trade. They are to be found in back yards, or on the higher floors of seedy office buildings. The owners are mostly Hungarians who have gone into exile earlier, and the addresses are passed on by word of mouth. The shops maintain this discretion partly because they keep their prices low.

China's Strategy

Inimical Forces Encircling India

By BRIG. GEN. JAMES D. HITTLE, USMC (Ret.)

RED CHINESE leaders must already control too much of the Southeast Asian peninsula on her east. A strong Red Chinese striking force is poised on the northeast border, ready to pounce when Mao thinks the timing is right.

All of which again demonstrates the deliberate, long-range, and endless nature of Communist aggression. And still people who should know better keep believing that a cease-fire in Viet Nam will bring peace.

It also is the way Red Chinese leaders planned things. Ever since the fall of mainland China into the Red orbit following the Second World War, Chinese Communists have listed India as a priority target. India's population and strategic location made it Peking's principal competition for Asian leadership. Communists don't tolerate competition. Anything or anyone that stands in their way must be overcome or destroyed. India was to be no exception.

Mao Tze-tung's plan for the destruction of India as a serious competitor called for the strategic isolation of India. It was strategy on a grand scale. This scheme as devised by Peking, involved double envelopment of India.

One arm of the vast envelopment was to punch its way down the Southeast Asian peninsula. Mao's general staff realized, even if many of their Western counterparts did not, that the long Southeast Asian peninsula is a protecting land flank of India.

This peninsula drive now has moved through much of Laos, to South Viet Nam and the northern provinces of Thailand. In the process, Burma, on India's eastern approaches, has been outflanked militarily and softened politically.

Of course, the Red thrust down the peninsula still has a long way to go before it takes Singapore on the Straits of Malacca to complete envelopment of India from the east. But it has, in Peking's opinion, already reached the point where it is paying strategic dividends.

The right, or northern arm of the flanking manoeuvre was out of the China mainland into Tibet. This put Peking on the northern approaches to India.

Thus, today, India finds herself in a potentially disastrous fix, her land frontiers encircled. Pakistan is on her west. Red China is in Tibet on the north.

Two remedies are available to President Castello Branco. One would be the easing up of the military "hard line" led by War Minister Costa e Silva. The other would be offering amnesty to the popular ex-President Juscelino Kubitschek, who returned to Brazil the very hour that votes were being pilled up for his two strongest supporters—Negrão de Lima in the State of Guanabara (Rio) and Israel Pinheiro in Minas Gerais.

Kubitschek, who lost his political rights for ten years when Marshal Castello Branco took power, had been in voluntary exile in Paris.

In Minas Gerais state, Kubitschek's Social Democratic Party candidate defeated the National Democratic Union candidate of Governor Magalhães Pinto. Governor Pinto, himself chief civil leader of the Revolutionary coup, enlarged upon the cost of living statistics. He said the revolution had been "repaid" by voters who were frustrated by promises not kept, sacrifices not compensated, and who face lack of housing, lack of jobs, and lack of social justice.

But what seems on the way is another face-saving operation. There are to be constitutional changes limiting powers of state governors and increasing the supreme court from 11 to 14 members, thus giving the government a hand-picked majority in that court. There are to be new press and radio regulations. And another of the face-saving bills to be presented to Congress is that the state police chiefs will be army men appointed by the federal government.

Target Change

Americans who abhor mob violence of any nature cannot condone the burning of the Indonesian Communist Party headquarters in Jakarta by a shouting throng of young Moslems.

But they would be hardly human if they didn't feel a slight satisfaction that the tables were turned. U.S. libraries, consulates and embassies have been sacked or damaged in many parts of the world, including Indonesia. Mostly, such attacks have been instigated by Communists, and sometimes ironically, in such places as the United Arab Republic, by Moslems.

The demonstrators are reported to have shouted, "Long live America," as they passed the U.S. embassy in Jakarta. Undoubtedly the staff preferred this to bricks. However, anything can happen in Indonesia. It would be foolish to cancel our fire and glass insurance there or any other place.

Yet Mr. Sadler expects 5,000 per game to see the boys play. It would be very nice to see the tournament in Victoria but the people just do not deserve it, or the abuse that will be thrown their way when the accountant takes the tally at the end.

As for the boys themselves, most of us have been out to see these Little League games, and have seen the smiling faces, even in the smallest boys. They are not told about the fun of the game any more; it's strictly win.

It is truly pathetic to see a father berating his small son for striking out, for making a bad throw, or even for playing on a losing team. It is even worse when the father goes after the coaches for not playing his boy, or for taking him out.

It is time someone took a bit of the organization out of the organized play of our children.

Questions for Electorate

Pie No Answer

Recently you reported that the city fathers are puzzled as to how to get rid of the pigeons.

If they write to the ministry of works, Whitehall, they may be told how these birds have been banished from the House of Parliament and surrounding statues.

Caution Urged

On Monday, October 18, 1965, an application for rezoning on the perimeter of the Victoria University was again presented to Saanich Council.

The people of Cadboro Bay have for many years been opposed to any type of zoning other than single dwelling in the Cadboro Bay area and have spent much energy and thousands of dollars to emphasize their desire to keep Cadboro Bay strictly residential.

However, there is a more serious and long-reaching effect in indiscriminate zoning on the university perimeter. The University Development Board has freely admitted that within a few years they will be land poor and the university will require a great deal of land adjacent to its perimeter. The purchase of land on which established high places and apartments are built is virtually impossible because of the cost factor, whereas it is feasible for the university to purchase land on which single dwellings are constructed at a reasonable cost.

We must keep in mind the fact that the university not only functions and develops because of generous gifts from the public but also on matching government grants. These grants are in effect a portion of the taxpayers' money.

It is to be hoped that the council in its present wisdom will see fit to continue refusing rezoning applications applied for on the perimeter of the university which, if granted, would have a detrimental effect on the economy of the university.

Costly Series

I would like to commend your sports writer, Jim Taylor, on his perfectly thorough From Left Field, recently. (Reference, the $75,000 Babe Ruth baseball world series.)

It seems hard to believe that anyone in his right mind would ever consider the amount of money mentioned after the way Victoria has shown that it just does not support sports in a reasonable manner.

You only have to go back to last season's hockey attendance to see what I mean, or back to pro baseball in the late 1940s, when even with a winning team the crowd was only around 3,000.

As soon as the team went on a losing streak of as little as two or three games the sports-minded people found other interests.

The same goes for lacrosse! As long as there is winner the people are there, but don't lose a game.

You can go back to your soccer, about the best team game there is, Victoria United plays some of the best soccer you will

'Not a Drop' For U.S.—Yet

OTTAWA (UPI) — National water policies which differ on whether or not Canada's water supplies should be tapped for United States needs, have become vital issues in the present Canadian election campaign.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson wants to negotiate the export of surplus fresh water to the U.S.

AGAINST IT

But Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker, Pearson's chief opponent in the campaign which will be settled Nov. 8, is against exporting water.

Whatever the outcome of the election, enough has been said to prime the water issue in this country to assure debate in the next session of Parliament.

25 PER CENT

Canada has an estimated 25 per cent of the world's fresh water supply.

Pearson likens water to wheat and oil as a major Canadian export. But he makes it clear that Canada would only negotiate the sale of water over and above that needed for Canada's future needs.

IMPORTANT

He views a Canada-U.S. water deal as possibly "one of the most important developments" in the history of Canada.

Diefenbaker said water export commitments would be at the expense of future generations of Canadians. Pearson, he said, "forgets the demands of our young citizens in the next 30 years."

DECADES

Federal and provincial hydrologists, meanwhile, are compiling an inventory of Canada's water.

But it will be "a matter of decades" federal water experts note, before this country's future water requirements will be known with any accuracy. Until then, the experts said, there can be no estimate of what surplus water, if any, Canada might have for export.

NOT UNLIMITED

Federal Minister of National Resources Arthur Laing, who does not support Pearson's theory, instead warned the U.S. recently not to view Canada as the source of "unlimited" quantities of water.

The water question has also cut across party lines in the Diefenbaker camp.

EXCHANGE

Alvin Hanlon, a former minister of agriculture, and one of Diefenbaker's right hand men, said Canada should offer its water in exchange for the expansion of U.S. industries in Canada.

Suggestions have been made to reverse the flow of rivers in the Canadian north to bring water into the Great Lakes that would normally have drained into Hudson Bay, the Arctic or Pacific Oceans.

DIVERSION

As well, there has been a multi-billion-dollar proposal to divert fresh water from rivers in the Canadian northwest through a Rocky Mountain trench into the southern areas of Canada and as far south as Mexico.

But Canadian water experts are more immediately concerned with finding ways to put water into the dry pockets of this country.

Servers Attend Meeting

From all over Vancouver Island and Gulf Islands came 200 of 310-member Servers' Guild of Diocese of B.C. for Friday-through-Sunday conference centred at Christ Church Cathedral. Aged from 12 to 80, servers have as main function assisting priest at Holy Communion. "Most successful conference ever held," said diocesan warden Jim Robertson of last weekend's 15th annual conference.—(William A. Boucher)

Plane's Crew Thought Dead

SAIGON (Reuters)—All three crewmen aboard a U.S. Air Force RB-66 reconnaissance plane were presumed killed when it crashed on a mountain peak in South Viet Nam's central highlands during the weekend, an American military spokesman said. The plane's wreckage was found near Kontum, about 265 miles northeast of Saigon.

Cost-Cutter Jets Studied

VIENNA (UPI) — Export information on the "stretched jet," 250-passenger airliner and the 600-seat "air bus," both of which seriously threaten future supersonic air travel because of lower operating costs, was given to the 21st general meeting of the International Air Transport Conference Monday.

IATA director-general Sir William P. Hildred told the 96 airlines participating that three major manufacturers have developed the "stretch jet," a subsonic aircraft with extended fuselage, for 1967 commercial use.

The significantly lower operating costs would affect passenger and cargo rates as well, he said.

Hildred indicated the "air bus," with capacity of 600 and more scheduled for the early 1970s, would promise "an economy hitherto beyond the realms of possibility."

RESTRICT SMOKE ADS

Australian television stations have agreed not to direct cigarette advertising at adolescents or non-smokers.

But uncertainty surrounds the supersonic jet situation, he said, any many problems remain to be solved. The problems will appear, he added, about 1972 for the Anglo-French developed "Concord" and the American "SST."

Hildred forecast a bright future for air transport — in both passenger and freight traffic.

As to lower fares, he said it is not a new idea — "for 20 years IATA has been striving for lower fares with success."

"Of course we want lower fares. . . . Lower fares mean more business." More than that, they mean a mixing up of people that they can understand each other and get to like each other."

You should see the all-new 1966 CHEVY II. It's something else again for 1966 . . . with a lower roof and higher horsepower. The new swept-back roof, new fenders and grille style are all so different they should really have called it Chevy III. And . . . it's still the best economy family car on the road.

Where do you stand on the Canada Pension Plan?

Mr. Richard

To be honest, I haven't really given it much thought.

Interviewer

Well, it is going to affect nearly everybody in Canada, one way or another, whether you are self-employed, or are working for someone else.

Of course, each case can vary as to benefits and amount of pension.

Mr. Richard

I know I'll get a pension at 65. I'm not sure it will be enough.

Interviewer

You can make sure. For example — the addition of a retirement Income Plan from The Mutual Life could well make the difference between just "getting by" — or really enjoying your retirement years.

Mr. Richard

Where can I find out how these things fit together? Sounds pretty complicated.

Interviewer

Call your nearest Mutual Life of Canada Representative. He's qualified to show you exactly what benefits you can expect.

Pollution Meeting

Water Crisis Poses Threat

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (UPI)—Both Canada and the United States are in the middle of a water crisis, the Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, A. D. P. Heeney, told a group of water pollution control experts Monday.

The experts, about 500 engineers, scientists, and elected officials from all levels of government and private industry, are attending the 32nd annual meeting of the Canadian Institute on Pollution Control.

Mr. Heeney said: "The harmful and costly effects of pollution for virtually all water users have created a water situation which is now widely referred to, and not without reason, as a water crisis. More precisely, it is a critical shortage of clean, cheap water."

His topic will be The Management of Clean Water.

FOLLOWED CLOSELY

He was one of a number of speakers on the first day of the three-day meeting.

"The current atmosphere of public concern—the more widespread among Canadians as we hear and read of the critical situation of some of our American neighbors—should certainly ensure that your proceedings will be followed closely by those in a position to take advantage of the results of this conference," Mr. Heeney said.

SPEAKS TONIGHT

Tonight, the minister of northern affairs and national resources, Arthur Laing, is to speak at the pollution control institute's annual banquet. His topic will be The Management of Canada's Water Resources and the Federal Government's Role.

An American pollution expert, L. F. Warrick of the United States public health service, Washington, said Monday public interest is fundamental to future progress in pollution prevention.

Mr. Warrick, who has been associated with the U.S. branch of the International Joint Commission, said there is "a sense of urgency in getting on with the job."

"There has been a tremendous awareness and upsurge of interest in preserving water resources in the United States as in Canada."

"Canada and the United States have been co-operating and will in the future co-operate to preserve their common resources."

SURVEY MADE

Another speaker at Monday's opening session was Dr. F. E. J. Fry of the University of Toronto, chairman of the newly-appointed associate committee for water pollution research of the National Research Council.

Dr. Fry said that while the committee has just started its work, a survey has already been made to find out how much research is being done in Canada on the problem of water pollution.

MORE RESEARCH

At least seven federal government departments or research bodies are doing research in the field, as are departments in eight of the 10 provinces.

A federal government spokesman, W. R. Edmonds, chief of the public health engineering division of the national health and welfare department, told the conference that more basic research into the causes of pollution is urgently needed.

MAJOR TASK

"The need for comprehensive planning to resolve the many complex pollution problems which threaten the economic use of our water resources is, I believe, recognized by all levels of government."

"Though the task ahead is a major one and the cost is high, the efficient management of the nation's water resources is a challenge that must be met."

Muzzle-Loader Highlight

Big as drain pipe, this is worrisome end of muzzle-loading shotgun. It was one of hundreds of antique weapons shown Sunday at annual convention of Vancouver Island Arms Collectors Association. Owner Hugh Lyle says it was used by guard on London-Brighton stagecoach and fires shot, nuts, bolts, nails or whatever you cram down barrel. With Mr. Lyle is his son Ross, 12.—(William E. John)

Redistribution

Commission Coming

Hearings of the provincial redistribution commission will be held for Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Saanich and Victoria electoral districts in the County Court Chambers, Law Courts building, at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 3.

Some questions to be discussed by the commission are:

● Should municipal boundaries be disregarded, to allow for a more even population distribution, when adjusting electoral district boundaries in a metropolitan area?

● Are dual member ridings preferable to two separate one member ridings covering the same area?

● Are there regional or historical reasons why the greater Victoria area should have greater representation by population than the Vancouver metropolitan area?

The commission meets in the Duncan court house, 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15, Nanaimo court house, 7:30 p.m. Nov. 16, Courtenay court house at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18, and Powell River court house, 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19.

Brydges Funeral Today

Funeral services will be held at Chaplin's Funeral Chapel at 3:15 p.m. today for Mrs. Maude Alice Brydges, 817 McClure, who died Saturday at 84.

Born in Sheffield, England, Mrs. Brydges lived in Virden, Man., before moving to Victoria in 1923.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Leslie (Joan) Green of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Donald K. (Bernice) Hayward of Victoria; a sister, Mrs. E. D. Oglesby of Toronto; a brother, S. D. Barnes of Victoria; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Watershed Tunnel

Mole Slows Up

The mechanical mole is working fine, but the rock is rotten, and because of this the 26,000-foot Sooke Lake watershed tunnel is being driven only six or seven feet a day.

This is the word from Commissioner Ronald Upward of the Greater Victoria Water District, who said Monday the work was going slowly and laboriously.

"It is necessary to shore every inch of the way, and it's hard, discouraging work with very little to show for it," said Mr. Upward.

STEEL BRACES

"You can't use plates and rockbolts to hold the stuff up because there is nothing to fix the bolt to. So we are just using steel braces and plates," he added.

The rotten rock has been met for the last 200 feet of tunnel, the commissioner added, but if past experience is a criterion, it could end any time.

The mole itself has never worked better. If harder ground is reached, it might once again start digging in the rate of 40 or 50 feet a day, as it did when it was at its best.

New Brunswick Venture

The drilling will be undertaken by a variety of companies who have bought parcels of land in the area where earlier this year Banff Oil in partnership with Aquitaine and Mobil brought in a highly promising initial discovery well and followed it up with two or three others.

The proposed Bank of Western Canada, still waiting for its federal charter, announces that the value of its $15 stock has risen by 45 cents to $15.45 as a result of the 3 per cent interest which has been accruing for the subscribers.

The capital value of the stock when the bank is launched will be $15 plus the amount of interest due at the time of approval.

DENISON PAYS TWICE

Denison Mines is to pay two dividends this winter, each of 25 cents. The first will be paid on December 15, and the second on January 21.

The company has already paid 50 cents in April and October this year.

Atlantic Sugar Co. Is Going Fishing

Atlantic Sugar Refineries is launching out into a new field of food production with a venture into the fishing industry in New Brunswick.

The Montreal-based company has purchased 75 per cent of Canadian Tuna Fishing Corporation (1965) Ltd., a new company with a capital of $3,500,000.

Other owners are Captain I. Norman Ryall, who will command a fleet of four tuna fishing ships and Royal Lavoie who will superintend the new $2,000,000 packing plant to be built in the next 12 months between St. Stephen and St. Andrews on the New Brunswick coast.

The New Brunswick Development Corporation will finance the new plant on a 20 years mortgage at 5 per cent interest.

The plant will have a capacity of 20,000 pounds of canned tuna a year.

TARIFFS REMAIN

The current U.S. tariffs on lead and zinc will remain.

Canada's largest lead-zinc producer is Concolt Mining and Smelting, while in the east a large new zinc refinery was opened just over a year ago at Valleyfield, Quebec, by Mattagami Mines Ltd.

BANK VALUE ENHANCED

The proposed Bank of Western Canada, still waiting for its federal charter, announces that the value of its $15 stock has risen by 45 cents to $15.45 as a result of the 3 per cent interest which has been accruing for the subscribers.

Lesage Insists That Quebec Is Pillar of French Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec said Monday that Canadians who are really a danger to the unity and integrity of the country are those who refuse to accept the effort of modern Quebec to assert itself as the mainstay of French Canada.

The premier, who was speaking at a meeting of the Canadian Club here, said those who regard Quebec's efforts to assert itself and its claims to be the mainstay of French Canada as a threat to Canada's unity and integrity never follow up their train of thought to find out where it leads.

Quebec reservation of a slowly vanishing group: The French-Speaking Canadians. As they see it, Canada's unity would be strengthened as the country became increasingly unilingual and uncultural.

"Naturally they don't come right out and say that, but this is certainly the logical conclusion of the attitude adopted by those who see in modern Quebec a threat to Canada's survival."

France Scores Magazine

PARIS (Reuters)—The French foreign ministry denounced Monday an article in the American magazine Newsweek about President de Gaulle as "a vulgar piece of fiction" and said it is part of a "systematic campaign to disturb France's relations with her Allies."

The article, published in this week's edition, quotes an unnamed diplomat, who had a recent one-hour interview with de Gaulle, as saying: "It was as if the clock had been turned back half a century and Poincare (Premier Raymond Poincare who sent French troops into the Ruhr in 1923) was again at the Elysee Palace. 'Like Poincare, de Gaulle claimed that Germany—now officially France's closest ally—must be kept in permanent subjugation. And that Germany should never have been permitted to have an army of its own.'"

"In fact the general went on to say that it was a pity the post-war four-power control of Germany had ever been abandoned."

NEW YORK—The Duke of Windsor, accompanied by the Duchess, left Columbia Presbyterian Medical Centre after the Duke was treated for a break in the retina of his right eye. The couple plans to return to their Paris home.

VANCOUVER—James Hollway, 25, declared a habitual criminal and sentenced to preventive detention. Court officials said he is believed to be the youngest man ever sentenced in Canada as a habitual criminal. Hollway admitted in court a string of convictions starting in 1958. He is currently serving a three-year term for robbery.

VANCOUVER—Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing says the dairy industry in one of British Columbia's prime agricultural areas will be dead within 25 years. He told a real estate firm's breakfast meeting industry will take over all the dairy farmer's properties in the fertile Fraser Valley.

Soaking Record Beaten

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Students at Queen's University here claim they set a world "shower-a-thon" record Monday and they intend to pad it.

Thirteen students, each taking two-hour shifts, have been under the shower since Oct. 17, and at 10 a.m. Monday claimed to have surpassed the record of 202 hours set by students at Cornell University at Ithaca, N.Y. recently.

The Queen's students say they will keep on soaking until midnight tonight. That would be nine days, or 216 hours, and about 60,000 gallons of water. The paint has begun to fall from the shower room but the students say they feel fine.

Dangerous Driving 'Outrageous'

A man who was seen by police driving through Beacon Hill Park and around the Dallas Road area early Sunday morning pleaded guilty to dangerous driving.

Prosecutor Peter Birkett said the man, Patrick Norton (no address available), was seen to lose control of his car several times.

Magistrate William Ostler said: "Your conduct and driving were so outrageous nothing can be said about them."

He fined Norton $300 and suspended his licence.

Clayton White was found Monday morning by police behind the wheel of his car with the motor running and headlights on.

White, of 988 McCaskill, pleaded guilty to impaired control and was fined $300. His licence was suspended.

Arthur Saunders told police he hadn't had a driver's licence for 12 years, when stopped at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Prosecutor Birkett told the court Saunders first attracted police attention when he stopped for no apparent reason on Pandora, blocking about 20 cars.

He pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $300. He was banned from driving anywhere in Canada for six months and fined $25 for driving without a licence.

Gerald Brasseur admitted to police that he was going too fast when he turned into Crescent Road at 5:10 a.m. Sunday.

Mr. Birkett said Brasseur failed to stop after hitting a parked car and was apprehended by police soon afterward.

Another person was driving when the police stopped the car, but Brasseur admitted control at the time of the accident. accident and $50 for dangerous driving. He was fined $150 for failing driving. His licence was suspended to remain at the scene of an accident.

Acetylene Used By Thieves

Acetylene cutting equipment stolen Saturday was used the following night in an attempt to break open the safe at Standard Furniture Co., 737 Yates, police said.

Det.-Sgt. Norman Bath said the thieves were unsuccessful in the safecracking, but left a mess.

It was suspected, however, that several TV sets may have been taken. Standard staff began an inventory.

In addition to the cutting equipment, thieves took a hose and tank, a heavy-duty drill, a hydraulic press and two pumps from Imperial Auto Body.

The break-in was noticed by a patrolling constable Sunday afternoon. The rear double doors were found open.

Cash between $5 and $20 was also taken.

Det.-Sgt. Bath said the break-in at Standard Furniture was discovered Monday morning. Entry was gained by scaling a fire escape to a third-storey window.

The rear doors were then opened and the cutting equipment brought in.

About $50 in cash was stolen from the safe at Robinson Sporting Goods, 1307 Broad.

The money was stolen either Friday night or Saturday, police said.

Arnold's Bakery, 1513 Douglas, was broken into over the weekend, but nothing apart from a few cupcakes was stolen.

Detectives found an attempt had been made to force the front door, and four side windows were found smashed.

An attempt was also made to force the door at Jubilee Pharmacy, 1775 Fort, during the weekend. Nothing was stolen.

Bonner Claims

Highway Agreement 'Totally Inadequate'

The Trans-Canada Highway agreement is "totally inadequate for urban areas," Attorney-General Bonner said Monday.

"We should scrap the existing agreement and replace it with a 'contribution to need' policy," he said while commenting on Vancouver's proposal for a freeway on the Burrard Inlet waterfront.

The freeway would be built as part of the Trans-Canada Highway, qualifying it for some federal aid, but Mr. Bonner said it is debatable whether heavy traffic from such a route should be brought through Vancouver. The attorney-general pointed out the Nation's Harbors Board spent $22,779,309 and another $36,638,012 for the Jacques-Cartier and Champlain bridges in Montreal, and said that if this policy is good enough for Montreal, it's good enough for Vancouver.

But if the federal government is not prepared to give similar treatment to the ports of Vancouver and New Westminster, "I think they should return these ports to the provincial government and we'll run them properly," he said.

Bridges Being Replaced

Four old bridges on West Coast Road between Jordan River and Port Renfrew are being replaced by the highways department.

Two 75-foot steel girder bridges with timber decks are now being built at Uglov and McVicar, several miles beyond Jordan River. These bridges, costing a total of about $150,000, will replace old log structures.

The highways department is also designing bridges which in the near future will replace old ones at Rosemond and Clinch (West Boulder) some seven miles beyond Jordan River.

Improvements on alignment and approaches will be made as the new spans go in, and the department is continuing to make minor improvements on the road itself.

Art Preview Due Tuesday

The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will hold a preview of its coming exhibition for gallery members at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The exhibition includes work by Victoria artist Flemming Jorgensen, former Victorian Duncan de Krommeaux, now of Ottawa, as well as watercolors and drawings by 10 leading Canadian contemporary artists.

The art gallery's annual general membership meeting and election of officers will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

VICTORIA

In Room 205, County Court Chambers
850 Burdett Street
Victoria, British Columbia
Commencing at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday,
November 3rd, 1965

All representations to the Commission must be made publicly either at this hearing or by written brief, or by letter addressed to the Secretary. Groups or individuals intending to submit briefs are requested to communicate with the Secretary beforehand. The Commission would be assisted greatly in its work if briefs submitted would include remarks and suggestions on the following points:—

- 1 Should Municipal boundaries be disregarded, to allow of a more even population distribution, when adjusting Electoral district boundaries in a Metropolitan area?
- 2 Are dual member ridings preferable to two separate one member ridings covering the same area?
- 3 Are there regional or historical reasons why the Metropolitan area of Victoria should have a greater representation by population than the Metropolitan area of Vancouver?

All briefs not submitted at a public hearing should be in the hands of the Secretary by November 30th, 1965.

Pension Promise Slammed

By FRASER KELLY

ELLIOT LAKE—Prime Minister Pearson Monday accused Conservative Leader Diefenbaker of deceiving voters with his promise to raise pensions to $100 with money from the Canada Pension Fund.

He didn't mention Mr. Diefenbaker by name when he lambasted the Conservative pension promise.

Mr. Pearson spoke to more than 600 people here on the 17th anniversary of his first election as member of parliament for Algoma East.

Smoking the Cancer Villain, Says Doctor

Don't Blame Air Pollution!

Air pollution is not a cause of lung cancer, a Victoria doctor told a group of would-be non-smokers Monday.

The doctor, who asked to remain unnamed for ethical reasons, said that 93.6 per cent of lung cancer cases are due to smoking.

He addressed the first session of the five-day course on how to stop smoking, held in the Dominion Hotel and sponsored by the Seventh-Day Adventists.

The doctor said an American research institute had investigated the medical history of a large religious organization in Los Angeles and found that only one of the members had died of lung cancer, a man who had smoked for 30 years before joining the sect.

He said scientists had found the ratio of people who had died of lung cancer was the same in the city as in the country.

The doctor said statistics showed 50,000 Americans would die this year of lung cancer.

The would-be non-smokers were also shown a film, One and 20,000, showing removal of a lung from a long-time many-packs-a-day smoker who had lung cancer.

The film also showed all the details of the operation from the incision to the stitching.

Another film gave instructions on how to combat smoking during the first day and included recommendations that the patient drink at least six glasses of water, drink much fruit juice and eat a lot of fruit, stay away from coffee and alcohol and do special breathing exercises to "provide extra amounts of oxygen to the brain."

'Degradation'

John D Hits Scandal

By RON COLLISTER

TORONTO — Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker appealed to the voters Monday to wipe the slate clean and reject a Liberal government that had "smeared the escutcheon of Canada" in its two-and-a-half years in office.

Making his final campaign appearance in Metro Toronto before an overflow crowd of more than 1,500 in Richmond Hill High School, he hammered away at the scandal issue.

"Are you going to approve of this kind of thing?" he asked.

"If you do," he replied, "the corroding influence of an apathetic public will bring about the degradation of the highest moral values in this nation."

Theme of the five-day plan is "I choose to stop smoking" rather than "I'm going to stop smoking."

Co-developer of the five-day plan, E. J. Kulenberg, explained in the film that the latter saying was making a promise which could lead to broken promise and shattered confidence.

The other saying leaves the patient with an option — the choosing of whether or not to smoke and "has original choice on be reaffirmed with ease," Mr. Kulenberg said.

Further aid to the would-be non-smokers was provided when the group chose telephone partners under the "buddy system."

The partners are expected to phone each other for moral support.

An added "help in overcoming the smoking habit" is provided in Victoria with the "Smokers Dial" at 383-1138. A recorded message gives an outline of the program.

The group will meet again at 7:30 p.m. today in the Dominion Room of the Dominion Hotel.

Labor Group Hits Phone Rates

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Federation of Labor charged Monday that B.C. Telephone Co. rates are excessive.

The federation asked the board of transport commissioners to broaden the terms of reference of its current hearing into B.C. Telephone's level of earnings to include rates, tolls and service charges.

Mr. H. Griffin, assistant chief commissioner, said Mr. MacDonald's proposals would be studied and he could expect an answer probably within two days.

"The company opposed the move. It said preparation of evidence for the hearing had been based on the original terms of reference set out by the board last March.

The terms of reference set out by the board call for an examination of the company's financial affairs and operations and of the basis on which the permissive level of earnings by the company may be authorized.

Another witness told the board that British Columbia's resource-based and export-oriented economy is subject to much sharper changes than that of Canada as a whole in times of economic boom or recession.

Arthur Phillips, a Vancouver investment analyst, suggested that it is important that the board keep this in mind when considering its approach to regulation of the earnings of the company.

Mr. Phillips was the first witness called by B.C. Telephone. He said that in boom periods, B.C. enjoyed greater economic gains than the rest of Canada, but in periods of recession the province's economy contracted more sharply than that of the rest of the country.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE

POLICIES FOR PEOPLE

WILL BUILD A NEW CANADA FOR YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN

WESTERN FARMS PROGRAM

"A Progressive Conservative Government will bring back energy and vision to federal agriculture policy so that all farmers will receive a fair share of Canada's national income."

—HON. ALVIN HAMILTON

1. EXPAND WHEAT SALES

The Progressive Conservative Government started the wheat sales to Russia and China. A new PC Government will continue this aggressive sales program for farm products, and provide credit for export sales.

2. EXPAND PORT FACILITIES

Canada lost sales of 100 million bushels of grain in 1963-64 because of lack of port facilities. Our national grain handling facilities were built for annual export of 300 million bushels. They should be large enough for 600 million bushels. Increased exports of pulp, sulphur, coal, iron ore, copper, lumber and potash demand immediate expansion of Canada's port facilities.

3. LIVESTOCK INSURANCE

A Progressive Conservative government will extend crop insurance coverage to livestock, and raise the 60% limit to not less than 80%.

4. LIVESTOCK EXPANSION

Canada needs a large livestock population. The Progressive Conservatives will put on a new drive for community pastures, promote forage banks, feed grain banks, and accelerate water conservation programs and plan northern river diversions to provide water in the south.

5. FARM CREDIT

A Progressive Conservative Government will assure farm credit with low interest rates for young people to expand and improve farms and farm homes.

SOCIAL JUSTICE

A Progressive Conservative government stands for a full program of Social Justice for all Canadians.

- Old Age Pensions $100 a month WITHOUT MEANS TEST.
- Education for All. University grants doubled, meaning LOWER TUITION FEES. Expansion of vocational schools to meet today's demand for skills.
- Deduct $500 for Municipal Taxes paid from taxable income for federal income tax. This means immediate federal sharing of elementary school costs.
- Medicare. If you want a national health plan, including universal Medicare with PROPER PRIORITIES AND EFFICIENTLY MANAGED, vote Progressive Conservative on November 8.

OTHER SOLID POLICIES FOR PEOPLE AND FOR PROGRESS

- FHA Mortgages on Older Homes to aid labor mobility.
- End of the Sales Tax on Drugs and stop the penalty for being sick.
- Recreational Parks Aid near our cities.
- Consumer's Loan Act to cut the high cost of installment buying.
- Eastern Farm Policy with a feed grain agency.
- $4 per hundredweight payments for industrial milk to help dairy farmers.
- Catch insurance for our East coast saltfish industry.
- National Power Grid to tie Canada together.
- "Roads to Resources" to open our frontiers.
- Department of Youth to help young Canadians.
- Confederation Conference to strengthen our unique union of provinces and cultures.
- New Life for ARDA to help farm communities.
- Urban planning research assistance to all communities.
- Aggressive foreign trade sales to build world markets.
- Major port expansion to move Canadian wheat and other products.
- End of the 11% Sales Tax on building materials and production machinery which have added to your cost of living.

College Fivesome Raid Royal Dorm

KINGSTON, England (UPI)—Five college youths claimed they sneaked into the public school dormitory of Princess Anne, 15, during a 3 a.m. stunt raid, it was reported Monday.

The Daily Mirror quoted a spokesman for the quintet: "They found a list of names which seemed to give bath times for the occupants. Princess Anne's name was on the list."

The raid was staged Sunday morning at the Benenden School, Kent, by five students from the College of Technology at Kingston.

Benenden School headmistress Miss Elizabeth Clarke conceded there had been a raid at the school, but scoffed at the students' claim of entering the princess' dormitory.

"I don't know how they could have located it, anyway," she said. "And I'm sure there is no list for them to see."

She accused the perpetrators of trying to get cheap publicity. "Princess Anne's detective is on the premises."

Playing Children Blamed for Fire

HARRISON MILLS, B.C. (CP)—Police at nearby Agassiz said Monday they believe children playing with matches were responsible for a fire that claimed four lives Saturday.

The only person to escape the blaze in a home on the nearby Chehalis Indian reserve was Tony Peters. He is in fair condition in hospital at Vancouver with severe burns.

FOURTH AWAY

Dead are his wife Shirley, 20, and their sons Adrian, 4, Colin, 2, and Gary, two months. A fourth child was away from home when the fire broke out.

Two girls who babysat for the Peters' children Saturday night said the two older boys had started fires while playing with matches, a police spokesman said.

He said the girls extinguished both fires. However, police believe one of the fires was not completely out and flared up after the parents had returned home and retired for the night.

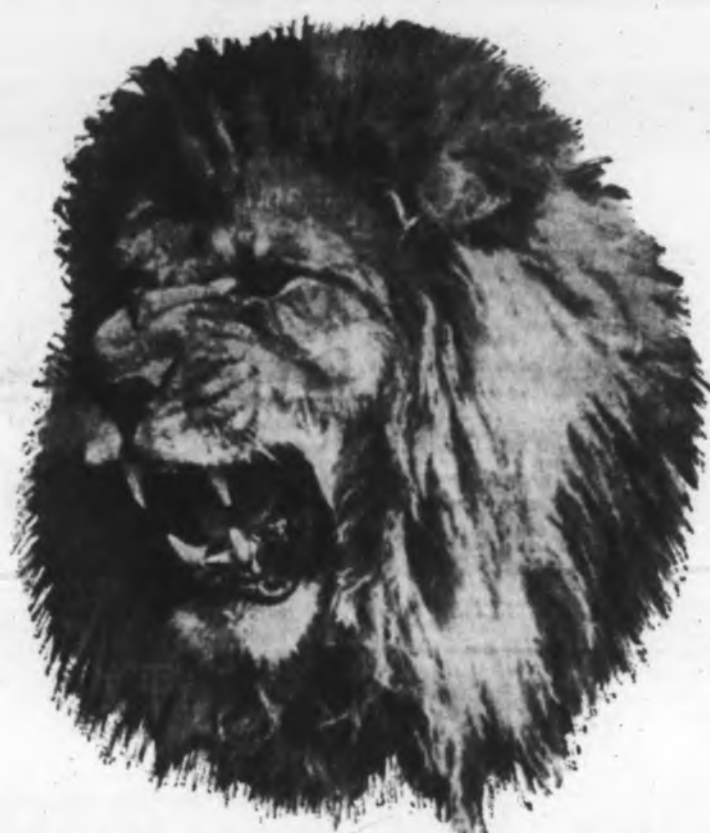

Wire Chief Retires In Victoria

Canadian National Telecommunications' wire chief in Victoria, F. J. Tilley, retired last week after serving 48 years in the industry.

Mr. Tilley, of 1164 Esquimalt Road, started his service with CNT in Toronto and served the last 37 years in B.C., working in Kamloops, Lytton, Vancouver and since 1962, Victoria.

CNT superintendent G. M. Edgar of Vancouver made a presentation at a reception in the Malahat Chalet.

If you think you don't need disability insurance, you haven't seen the statistics.

Of 1000 persons aged 35, 33% will be disabled by illness or injury — for three months or more — before they reach age 65. That's what the statistics show.

What kind of a statistic will you be?

It makes sense to look into a Manufacturers Life Personal Income Protector Plan. Nothing can give you such peace of mind as the sure knowledge that if you are disabled and cannot work, a guaranteed income will come your way.

Our Plan has many advantages. It offers you a wide flexibility in amount of income and the length of time it will be paid. For example; you may be able to arrange for income benefits right through to age 65 for total disability due to sickness or for life when an accident is the cause. Accidental death and dismemberment benefits to age 65 are also offered. You can co-ordinate the plan with your other resources; tailor it to your needs and your pocketbook. Manufacturers Life cannot cancel the policy nor can your premium rate be raised — ever. The plan can be adjusted to correct the inadequacy of any short-term coverage you already have.

If you are interested, call the Man from Manufacturers. When advising you on disability income he offers you the same competent counsel available to you when you are planning your life insurance security.

The Lip Returns to Rescue Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher returned to the major league managerial scene Monday with a three-year contract to lead the Chicago Cubs and immediate plans to lift the National League team out of the second division.

Durocher's initial appearance at a press conference called by vice-president John Holland ignited an atmosphere unknown

In Wrigley Field for the last 19 years during which the Cubs have been mired in the bottom bracket.

Holland said it was a straight salary deal with no bonuses or stock involved.

Salary details were not disclosed.

Durocher ended the conference and said: "Gentlemen, we're going to have some fun around here."

Lou Klein, head coach during the last half of the 1965 season, will be retained in the Cub system but Durocher kept only Verlon Walker as an immediate aide.

Lippy Leo said Walker, Whitey Lockman and Fred Fitzsimmons would make up his coaching staff.

Durocher resigned as the Giants manager in 1955 and went into television. He returned to baseball as a coach of Los Angeles Dodgers in 1961 and stayed on through 1964.

When the Cubs announced the hiring of Durocher Monday they issued a release which read: "There is no immediate announcement as to Durocher's title."

In typical Durocher fashion this lasted exactly five seconds after someone questioned Durocher.

"If they haven't given me a title, I'll give myself one," said Durocher. "I'm the manager and the only manager and don't call me coach."

"Leo has complete authority on the field," said Holland. "He and I will work hand in hand on all trades and changes of personnel."

Leafs Laugh Off Woes Sit Atop WHL Tables

There is a difference between the Victoria Maple Leafs of this season and those of last season. Quite a difference, to be sure. A different attitude is a big part of it, and the rest is depth and balance. That this one is a far cry from the club which last season often had trouble icing enough bodies was pointed out Sunday at Portland, where a second successive victory over the champion Buckaroos, 4-3, put Victoria atop the Western Hockey League tables.

Coach Frank Mario went into this game without rightwinger Gordie Redahl and he learned in the first period that Dick and when Lamoureux had to call it an evening, defenceman Bill Shvetz took his place on the line with Ed Litzenberger and Mike Labadie.

BIG GUNS

So Shvetz scored two goals and Witiuk got one and helped Slavieri get his scoring shot away.

Last season, the 36-year-old Witiuk and the 25-year-old Shvetz had to skate on a full-time basis and there was no one behind them. This season, as events in the first five games indicate, they give the Leafs two ideal replacements—experienced and more effective with the spotted service.

As for balance, the Leafs have had seven goals from Milan Marcetta's line, six from Litzenberger's and four from Slavieri's with the difference largely due to power-play chances.

Shvetz got that one back less than six minutes later, climaxing a three-way passing attack with Litzenberger and Labadie with a screened shot that beat Don Head cleanly. Slavieri, catching the rebound from a point shot by Aut Erickson just as Portland defenceman Mike Donaldson was rushing back into action from the penalty box, put the Leafs ahead to stay before the period was over.

DEFLECTION

Witiuk got his stick on a slap shot from the point by Fred Hucul for a power-play goal in the first minute of the third period. Ten minutes later, Litzenberger made a fine check at midice and fed to Labadie to give the Leafs a two-on-one break.

Labadie broke in with Shvetz, yielded the puck at the precise time and Shvetz fired from less than 20 feet for what was to prove the game-winning shot.

their initial test at Memorial Arena tomorrow.

Opposition is the San Francisco Seals, bolstered this season by new goalkeeping and the addition of two forwards with Boston Bruins last season—youthful Wayne Maxner and veteran Forbes Kennedy—and rated by many as the club most likely to topple the Buckaroos.

Pass this one and the Leafs, already close to it, will take over that rating for the time being at least.

Give Me Strength

Apparently too horrified to look, coach Dave Skrien stands with eyes closed to sight of his B.C. Lions being demolished by Saskatchewan Roughriders Sunday in Vancouver. Behind him, Bill Munsey heads for the bench.—(CP)

All the Answers B.C. Lions Didn't Lose, Riders Won

By JIM TAYLOR

VANCOUVER—B.C. Lions didn't lose a football game here Sunday. Saskatchewan Roughriders won one. There's a whale of a difference.

That 30-14 final score was the whole story. The Riders came up mean and tough and skilful, and they are in the Western Football Conference playoffs because they were a better team than the Lions.

Lions' fans need no alibis and should be looking for none.

Their team got whipped in fundamental football by a club that went after them like a butcher hitting the chopping block.

After 20 minutes, it was a gross mismatch.

The game was won and lost where most games are—up in the front wall, where linemen make holes so backs can make headlines. And the Riders offensive line, led by mammoth Ed Benecick, Jack Abendschan and Ted Urness, chopped great chunks out of the Lions.

Through those holes ran George Reed, a moose of a man with fair speed, great bal-passing not often but well, hit on eight of 12 tries for 208 yards and three touchdowns.

There were 37,780 fans in Empire stadium, a Canadian Football League record, and they got a shock treatment in just 33 seconds.

Riders started the assassination with a play they had practised all week, devised after a look at Lions' game films. They were so sure of it they vowed to try it the first time they got the ball and they did, even though a good kick and a holding penalty had driven them back to their eight-yard line.

THE BIG BOMB

Lancaster faked a handoff to Reed, bootlegged right, and when defensive half Bill Munsey went for the fake, arched a pass down the sideline. Gordie Barlow, a 20-year-old rookie, caught it on the 45, a good 15 yards behind Munsey, and carried all the way for a 102-yard touchdown play.

Then the Riders kicked off, held the Lions on two plays, took the punt and went for another touchdown as Reed ran for six, Bill Butler for seven, and Reed for 14, nine and 11 yards and the major.

THIRD ONE HURT

After four minutes and 40 seconds it was 13-0. But it was not the Riders' first touchdown, nor the second, that broke the Lions. It was the third, and the manner in which it was scored.

After Reed's touchdown, the Lions went 61 yards in two plays, a 43-yard pass to Sonny Homer and an 18-yard run outside by Willie Fleming for the touchdown. Peter Kamp's convert made it 13-7, and the Lions were back in it.

ANOTHER BOLT

They kicked and held Ed Buchanan for two yards. Stop the next play and they had Riders in a kicking spot deep in their own zone. So Reed went 36 yards, Lancaster passed to Hugh Campbell for 17 more, Buchanan was stopped for one, and Lancaster hit Jim Worden in the end zone.

The Riders had bounced back in five plays, and the Lions were beaten.

CHANCES MISSED

In the second quarter it was Lancaster to Campbell for another touchdown, and in the fourth a 37-yard field goal by Abendschan. In between, the Lions got a touchdown on a 23-yard pass to Kempf, and had a couple of chances to make it interesting, or at least cut the margin to less than 12 points and retain a mathematical chance of making the playoffs.

Reed fumbled on his own 46-yard line, but Henry Dorsch threw Fleming for a three-yard loss when it meant touchdown if he got past, and Fleming dropped a pass on his finger-tips when he looked to be away.

And on the Lions' last sequence Bob Swift was thrown for six-yard loss, then a one-yard loss, and Kapp was trapped 13 yards back of the line of scrimmage.

ALL THE ANSWERS

That was the way it went all day. Kapp may be accused of calling a dull and unimaginative game and the Lions of playing below their capabilities, but on their best day they would have had trouble Sunday because Riders had all the answers.

Watching, you got the feeling that if the Lions had used hand grenades, Campbell would have caught them all and thrown them back.

The Riders were ready for anything.

VANCOUVER — St. Andrews played to a 1-1 draw with favored Columbus in the Pacific Coast Soccer League here Sunday.

Barry Bakshi scored in the first half for Columbus, but winger Noel Cumming headed in the cross in the second half for the draw.

AT THE 19th With Harry Young

Two of Colwood's youngsters making their first attempt became Victoria district buttonholders Sunday when, on their own course, they scored a last hole victory to topple Dick Munn and Fred Worthington of Cedar Hill.

Munn and Worthington won the buttons last spring and this was their third defence of the new season.

The Colwood youngsters, both of them just out of the junior ranks, finished up with a birdie to clinch the issue.

With the possible exception of Dick Munn and his former partner Kerry Greenwood, Kent and Allan are perhaps the youngest team to have held the open buttons since Bob Fleming and the late John Merriman, held sway as teenagers about 15 years ago.

In their first defence at Gorge Vale this Sunday, Kent and Allan will come up against a formidable home team duo of Art Donaldson and Dave Panthorpe.

Only about one in three of the 60 players participating in the first of the district winter medals at Uplands this month took the trouble to check and sign their cards.

The remaining cards were handed in by the markers and were signed by them only.

The matter came to light at a meeting of the Victoria district committee at Colwood Saturday, when Joe Briggs, the medal chairman, reported that Ron McLeod's score of 70 would have been one stroke less if his marker had not put him down for a five at one hole where in fact he only took four.

McLeod was one of the majority of the players who did not counter-sign his card and his marker's error was not noticed.

The committee decided that as McLeod had already penalized himself by allowing his card to be returned with a higher score than he had shot, no action would be taken in this case.

It was pointed out that if the error had been the other way, the player would have been liable to disqualification despite the fact that he had not signed the card.

The committee unanimously decided that in future district competitions no scores will be accepted unless they are signed both by the marker and the player.

The next round is at Oak Bay Nov. 24. Dick Munn leads the race with his 68, and next come McLeod and George Bigelow with 70 apiece.

Dr. Metcalfe with 78-12-66 and Jack Priestman 91-23-68 won the first two turkeys of the season at Victoria Golf Club on Saturday. A third bird will go to the winner of a play-off between Doug Abbott, W. Peers, Bob McKean and Bob Gunning, all of whom returned net 69s.

Derek Rhys Jones, captain of the Royal Colwood club, won the Chairman's Mug competed for Saturday on his own course by members and officials of the Victoria District Golf Committee.

Derek's round of 84 less his handicap of 13 gave him a net 71 to head the field.

A hole in one at the 160-yard second hole at Gorge Vale was scored Monday by Bernie Hall. He used a No. 3 iron, and was playing with Bill Burrows.

Bombers Ride Winning Streak Crest

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers will ride into Calgary's McMahon Stadium Wednesday night on the crest of their hottest winning streak this season, hoping to catch the league-leading Calgary Stampeders in the Western Football Conference.

The Bombers, who won six of their seven games since Sept. 19, trail Calgary by two points and still have a chance at first place, although they'll need British Columbia Lions' help to nail it down.

The Bombers were humiliated 35-7 in Calgary Sept. 6 after winning the first game 19-8 here Aug. 11.

"They are the best team in Canadian football today and we have to play better than we have all year in order to beat them," says Winnipeg coach Bud Grant.

"We definitely can't spot Calgary any points—we'll have a tough time without it," Grant says.

Calgary will cradle two advantages against the Bombers. The Stampeders have had 11 days to prepare for Wednesday's game while Winnipeg had only three, and the Bombers haven't won a game in McMahon Stadium since 1963.

Grant feels Calgary will continue to use the services of its top ground — gainers, fullback Lovell Coleman and halfback Ted Woods, while veteran quarterback Eagle Day will aim at end Herman Harrison and flanker Bobby Taylor.

Chualo Picked By Fritzie Zivic

TORONTO (CP) — Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, former world welterweight champion, Monday called George Chualo to knock out Ernie Terrell in their World Boxing Association heavyweight championship fight here Nov. 1, but attached a big "if" to his prediction.

Zivic, 52, who also held the title of King of the Art of Dirty Fighting, said that despite the WBA champion Terrell's jab and a six-inch edge in height, Chualo will "wear him down with body punching and stop him around the 11th or 12th round."

TERRELL GOOD

"I'm not trying to take any credit away from Terrell," said Zivic, who earned $500,000 in 39 professional fights. "This guy is good and he has an excellent left jab."

"But if Chualo puts the pressure on him, works to the head for five or six rounds and then switches to a body attack, he should wear Terrell down and knock him out."

Brazil Favored For World Cup

LONDON (AP) — Brazil, the defending World Cup soccer champion, Monday was made a 5-to-2 favorite to retain the title in England next year and capture the crown for an unprecedented third straight time.

Brazil won the title in Sweden in 1958 and retained the crown in Chile in 1962.

The 16 finalists still are not all known, but a leading British bookmaker set up these odds on the ones that have been determined: Brazil 5 to 2, Argentina 11 to 2, England 7 to 1, Hungary 8 to 1, Russia 10 to 1, Uruguay 14 to 1, Chile 16 to 1 and Mexico 20 to 1.

West Germany and France look like two other certain finalists.

Spain plays the Republic of Ireland Wednesday to decide who goes forward from that group. Ireland upset Spain 1-0 at home and now Spain needs to win to force a playoff.

Canadians Lose Out

Swiss Turn to Czechs as Coaches

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Every year, Canadians find it tougher to land a coaching job with a hockey team in Switzerland.

Clearly, Swiss teams prefer to hire Czechs. A case in point is Davos, one of the best-known clubs in Switzerland.

After hiring a Canadian every year for almost two decades, the management opted for a Czech this year.

"The style of hockey they teach is better suited for our players," said Davos manager Walter Duerst.

"They also meet a certain standard, while you can never be sure how good a Canadian is as coach until you have tried him out," Duerst said.

The Czech federation only permits coaches to work abroad if they have passed the coaching examinations for the top coaching class. This even involves writing a thesis.

Packers Unbeaten; Vikings, 49ers Pull Out Stops

Green Bay Packers held their lead in the Western Conference on Sunday, remaining the only unbeaten and untied club in professional football by defeating Dallas Cowboys, 13-3, but the real fireworks in the National Football League Sunday took place in San Francisco.

There, Minnesota Vikings put on a spectacular comeback in a spectacular game to defeat the 49ers, 42-41.

There, Minnesota Vikings put on a spectacular comeback in a spectacular game to defeat the 49ers, 42-41.

Completing 21 of 35 passes for 385 yards, Tarleton threw touchdown passes to Hal Belser and Paul Flatley in the third quarter and got another major score from Tommy Mason around a San Francisco field goal, to start the fourth quarter at 35-38.

Then Tarleton and Flatley combined for a 14-yard scoring play in the fourth quarter and the 49ers could only answer with their second field goal.

John Brodie earlier hit Bernie Casey with touchdown passes of 36, 25 and 21 yards and got another touchdown on a one-yard plunge by rookie fullback Ken Willard. A recovered fumble provided 49ers with their fifth touchdown.

Two for Mason
Mason scored the first two Minnesota touchdowns.

Three field goals by Don Chandler and a touchdown by Jim Taylor were enough for the Packers in their defensive battle with Dallas.

Only a game behind the Packers, Baltimore Colts whipped Los Angeles Rams, 35-20. John Unitas passed for three touchdowns, twice to Jimmy Orr and once to Ray Berry, and scored once himself on an 18-yard run.

Cards Beaten
Minus regular quarterback Charlie Johnson, St. Louis Cardinals dropped behind Cleveland Browns in the Eastern Conference.

REDMEN, BAYS HEAD FOR NEW SHOWDOWN

Like the nation's political parties, Oak Bay Farmers and Nanaimo Redmen are heading for another showdown. And like the politicians, they've got slogans at the ready.

Farmers say Forward with Forward. Redmen say Win with Lynn.

Both worked out Sunday when Farmers and Redmen won sudden-death semi-finals in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Canadian Football League.

Farmers beat Victoria Hornets, 34-8, at Camarvon Park, and Redmen edged JBAA Mustangs, 27-20, in Nanaimo.

Halfback Jim Forward tipped off touchdowns runs of 90, 55 and 10 yards to lead Oak Bay past Hornets, and in Nanaimo fullback Lynn Irving scored all four touchdowns for the Redmen. The two starry backs met head on next Sunday in Nanaimo in the first game of a two-game, total-point final.

Terry Ryan scored one touchdown for Oak Bay on a 73-yard pass-and-run play, quarterback Bob Wicks added a touchdown, and Lloyd Murphy kicked four converts. Pete Williams got the Hornet touchdown and Ken Sainsbury kicked a single.

In Nanaimo, Bob Thatchuk converted one of Nanaimo's touchdowns, and the Redmen got their other two points on a safety touch. Bob Loughead scored two touchdowns and Ross Swanton one for Mustangs. Ron Sallis kicked for two points.

Punch Not Hunting For Panic Button

Toronto Maple Leafs are in early-season trouble, both on and off the ice, but manager-coach Punch Imlach, is not yet reaching for the panic button.

It's much too early for anything that drastic, Imlach answered when asked if he intended to demote anyone before meeting Boston Bruins on Saturday. "You don't panic because you have been shut out twice. That's happened to us before and it will happen to us again."

And there may be more to worry about than the failure to score once while losing to Chicago Black Hawks, 4-0, Saturday at home and 3-0 to the Red Wings in Detroit Sunday.

A meeting has been scheduled in Montreal between Bernie Smythe, president of the Toronto club, to return to the game as a player.

Geoffron was placed on the voluntarily retired list 18 months ago and is in his second season as coach of the Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League.

However, despite Imlach's apparently calm approach to the 0-2 records, the Leafs are probably more worried about their ineptitude on the ice.

It took brilliant goaling by Terry Sawchuk Sunday to keep the team that had taken an 8-1 spanking from Montreal on Saturday from running up a truly embarrassing count.

Wings scored a goal a period as they fired 43 shots against the 23 the Leafs managed at the Detroit goal.

Other games Sunday again hinted strongly that the championship race is likely to be between Montreal and Chicago.

The Hawks overpowered Boston Bruins, 6-2 with Doug Mohns and Ken Wharmann each scoring twice and Bobby Hull getting his fourth goal.

Canadiens got two third-period goals 82 seconds apart as they cashed in on their effective power-play again to defeat New York Rangers, 4-3.

Commons Self-Conscious

LONDON (CP) — Parliament reassembles today in a self-conscious mood after a 12-week vacation. The doubtful future of this year-old Parliament is the undermost issue in the minds of many members.

Prime Minister Wilson, whose Labor government clings to power by a three-vote majority in the 630-seat House of Commons, has said repeatedly that he plans to press on regardless.

But death, procedural accident, by-election setbacks or open revolt by Labor malcontents could undermine the intention to hold off a general election at least until next year. Edward du Cann, chairman of the opposition Conservatives, made a warlike speech Sunday in which he pledged his party to a major attack on Labor's record in the resumed Parliament.

However, Labor leaders and many neutral observers believe the Tory tough line should be taken with a pinch of salt. Autumn opinion polls have shown a substantial swing in Labor's favor, an omen that should deter Tories from forcing an election.

The Conservatives need time to digest a new policy line and to let their new leader, Edward Heath, show his stuff in Parliament and around the country.

TESTS SOON

Party popularity — and incidentally the opinion polls — will be tested at by-elections in the next two weeks.

The cities of London and Westminster, constituency of the late Sir Harry Hylton-Foster, speaker of the House of Commons, is virtually certain to remain in Conservative hands Nov. 4. Labor is expected to retain Erith and Crayford, east of London, in a by-election Nov. 11 resulting from the summer death of MP Norman Dodds. But significant voting shifts could alter the political atmosphere.

Parliament's first business is to elect Horace Maybray King, 64, Labor member for the Southampton constituency of Itchen, the 151st Speaker of the House of Commons and the first Labor member to occupy the chair.

Found on Farm

WEEDON, Que. (CP) — Quebec Provincial Police in this community 100 miles east of Montreal said Monday two skeletons were found in a sandpit on a farm in the nearby Bishopston area over the weekend. Wife of the farmer said the QPP took the skeletons away in two wooden crates. She said they told her husband the sandpit may be located in an old cemetery.

King will be succeeded in the office of ways and means chairman — as the speakership, a non-voting post — by Conservative Sir Samuel Storey, 68. Liberal MP Roderick Bowen announced Monday night he would accept the third non-voting Commons office, deputy ways and means chairman, thus effectively easing the pressure on the Wilson government by raising its majority to three from two.

Toxic Powder 'Hits All Users' Gorge Not Budgeted But Not Forgotten

VANCOUVER (CP)—A government food and drug official says everyone who uses toxic malted milk powder will get food poisoning.

Larry Devlin, western regional director of the federal food and drug brands, said Sunday the defective Borden's Plain Malted Milk "is sparing no one."

"If you use it, you'll get sick," he said.

Officials are searching for 468 jars of the product—red, white and blue labelled jars with perforated code numbers 15147 and 15148.

Mr. Devlin said 20 families in B. C. have suffered severe stomach cramps, vomiting and diarrhea after using the powder.

Report Awaited

Although not part of Saanich council's proposed $2,750,000 capital projects budget, the Gorge Waterway has not been forgotten, Coun. Edward Lum said Monday.

"We are not overlooking the Gorge area by any means," he said.

He explained that the proposed location of the sewer trunk lines will not be known until the sewer survey report comes out in April.

DELAY URGED

"Everything that can be done is being done," he said.

A Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association member had said Saturday that the municipality should not start building other projects at the expense of a proper sewer system, Coun. Lum noted, adding: "As soon as we get the results of the sewer survey, they will be presented to the two senior governments."

COST UNKNOWN

"We have no idea what the costs will be. But I do know Saanich couldn't do it without help from the senior governments," he said.

"We also fully realize the importance of implementing a Gorge beautification plan which will benefit the people living along the Gorge and also the tourist industry," he said.

"Work will be started very shortly on a new Gorge Bridge to replace the one now at Tillamook."

He said a firm had been hired to bring to council a plan to beautify the area between the Gorge Bridge and Craigflower Bridge.

PARK PLAN

Saanich under a lease agreement with the city can now go ahead and develop Gorge Park, according to Coun. Lum.

He said it was necessary that the municipality's proposed capital projects budget receive the required 60 per cent affirmative votes on Dec. 11.

"The east-west McKenzie Avenue thoroughway is an essential part of the over-all development of the municipality," he said.

ESSENTIAL

"Bowker Creek work is also essential, as it is part of the drainage system for the Gordon Head area."

He said that if the municipality did not acquire land now for open spaces, it would soon be too late.

"If we wait too long, the lands will either have been sold or priced out of reach," he said.

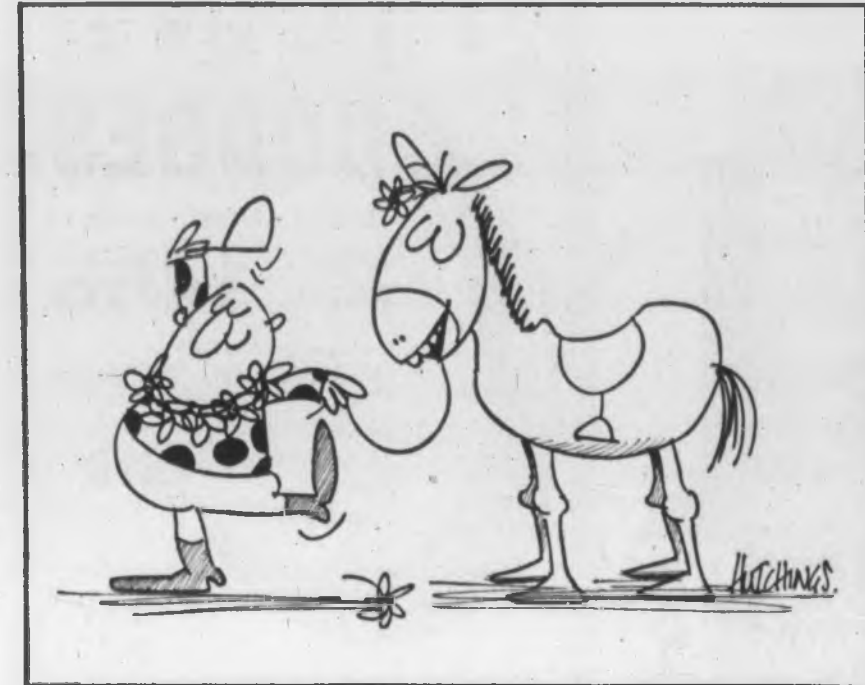

Esquimalt-Saanich NDP federal candidate Len Stevenson, who is also a member of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association, said Monday.

"All the municipalities and the city have a definite responsibility toward cleaning up the waterway."

"The waters of the Gorge are tidal," he said. "If the federal government wants to keep all the benefits from tidal waters, it should be willing to accept the responsibilities."

Which whisky do the Jones' really drink?

When it comes to whisky, the Jones' can afford to please themselves.

Yet they don't let others dictate their taste. They have taste of their own.

Which is why it's not surprising that so many of the Jones' drink Bonded Stock. This is a smooth, mellow whisky with a flavour you don't have to disguise.

One other thing: you don't have to be one of the Jones' to appreciate Bonded Stock. All you need is a taste for good whisky.

Firecrackers Will Bring Charges

Firecracker wielding boys are risking being charged under both the Criminal Code and the district's bylaws, a Langford volunteer fire department official said Monday.

The volunteers were called out twice Monday on firecracker complaints. A tree was set on fire on Goldstream Road and two old cars were set afire on Kestey Pine Road.

Fire Chief Allan LeQuenne said those causing the firecracker complaints could be charged with public mischief under the Criminal Code, or the fire department could lay charges through the district's bylaws.

B.C.'s chief law enforcement officer, Attorney-General Bonner, thinks Greater Victoria's little goblins should make their trick-or-treat rounds Saturday instead of Sunday.

"There is no law on the subject, but Sunday is considered a special day by most religions and therefore inappropriate for the carnival atmosphere of Halloween. I think most families will choose Saturday evening," Mr. Bonner said.

Council at its last meeting decided against studying the report at a regular council meeting and left it up to Reeve Wurtelle to call a special meeting.

Police Probe Knifing

Victoria police are investigating the knife wounding of a juvenile on the Ogden Point breakwater Monday.

The youth, found lying unconscious at the end of the breakwater by Gordon Haire of 49 Oswego, had a knife in his hand, and investigation showed a wound on his abdomen. A note was found beside him.

Mr. Haire said he did not read the note because he was too anxious to get to a phone.

Police, Monday night, had not established whether the youth had been assaulted or the wound was self-inflicted.

In Shooting Death

By GORDON DODD

A six-man jury retired 55 minutes Monday to find that 6½ hours of evidence had been insufficient to show how 50-year-old Saanich warehouseman Arthur Davies was shot in the head.

After the open verdict had been recorded by Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre, Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart, head of Saanich detective division, said investigations would continue.

Three times at Monday's hearing, Mr. Davies' grey-haired, 72-year-old widow Marjorie was asked by Saanich prosecutor Ken Murphy whether she herself had shot her husband.

The first time, she whispered in reply, "Don't ask me that."

In the second instance, she said, "If I had, would I have brought him a cup of tea in the morning? It is ridiculous."

At the third asking, her answer was a steady "No."

Mr. Murphy then questioned Mrs. Davies about a rifle and asked, "Did you use this rifle to shoot your husband?"

Her reply was, "I did not know it was in the house. How could I use it?"

Mrs. Davies, who gave evidence under the protection of the Canada and B.C. Evidence Acts at the request of lawyer Dermot Owen-Flood, testified she discovered her husband Arthur lying across a bed at their home, 3395 West Saanich Road, on the morning of Oct. 16.

She said her first thought was he had fallen over rubble when he had gone to an outside shed to "check the oil."

Mrs. Davies said her husband had been "drinking with the boys" before returning home on Oct. 15 evening. He brought a bottle with him and she joined him in having two or three more drinks.

Drinking with Mates

Workmates told the inquest a few days before his death he complained of a pain in the left ribs and he continually worried about whether he suffered from cancer. She also believed he suffered from overstrain at work.

Det. Sgt. Stewart told of an interview he had with Mrs. Davies later in the day her husband died from a bullet wound in hospital.

She said they had argued the previous night but could not remember whether there were blows.

During the interview he asked Mrs. Davies whether she had ever used the rifle.

She said, "Yes, I'm a very good shot. We were going to shoot the rats on the front porch as they were bothering the squirrels."

Mrs. Ann Preiswerck, sister of Mr. Davies, said drink gave him a lift. "He was a very happy man and it made him more jolly."

He had never mentioned he feared he had cancer.

She suggested her husband might have taken the rifle to shoot a rat which had appeared at the living room window, where the couple fed squirrels three days before.

Mrs. Davies, who described her 16-year marriage to her husband as a happy one, said he never talked of suicide.

He pointed out two former members of the council had been in office for more than eight years.

"Two of the council who, the report suggests, 'didn't know the difference' between private and public business. Two of the council who the government report suggests followed 'woefully inadequate' procedure methods," he said.

"Not only didn't they try to rectify the situation, but in mid-term they quit," Commissioner Taylor said.

He said Commissioner Andries Boas and L. R. Christian and himself had been termed the "compact council."

"This compact council has been trying to straighten out things that the former compact council had been doing wrong for years," he said.

"IRRESPONSIBLE?" "And then the very members, who didn't have the integrity to remain in office, called us irresponsible."

Commissioner Taylor told council it was time the members spoke out and made it clear "who is responsible and who is not."

Village chairman A. A. Cormack and Lt.-Col. J. H. Larocque, and Commissioners F. S. B. Heward and J. G. Mitchell have all resigned from office this year.

He said many things were done, among them hiring a deputy village clerk, changing procedures and setting up a better system of bookkeeping.

"Better still, let's ask who didn't act?"

"The record shows the former chairman did not make one single recommendation, did not make one single motion, not one single suggestion to put this house in order," he said.

Five hundred University of Victoria students will disembark from buses at Quadra and Pandora in the noon-hour, Wednesday, then march to the McPherson Playhouse for a 1 to 2 p.m. political community forum.

On the platform, to speak of their party's program for higher education, will be Victoria candidates J. Lloyd Brereton (NDP), David Groos (Liberal), Frank Hunter (Social Credit) and Clifford Waite (Progressive Conservative).

Also on the platform with statements will be Dean Ronald Jeffels, representing the faculty, and Paul Williamson, president of the Alma Mater Society.

"We will also have a statement—possibly in person—from Education Minister Peterson," said Mr. Williamson.

He also said the presence of a number of the members of the faculty will emphasize the "classic concept of student-faculty co-operation."

At almost the same time, an all-candidates' meeting will take place in the Senior Citizens' Activity Centre, Centennial Square, from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., on the policies of the various parties on problems of the aged.

A week from Wednesday, the Political Science Forum and the Student Activities Council are jointly sponsoring an all-candidates meeting at 8 p.m. in McPherson Playhouse.

Esquimalt-Saanich Conservative candidate George Chatterton has lost nine points so far in the election campaign, and Victoria Conservative candidate Clifford Waite has aged a year.

"I was 188 pounds, I am now 179—about right," said Mr. Chatterton.

As for Mr. Waite, he celebrates his 44th birthday today.

Election meetings today: Victoria NDP J. Lloyd Brereton, 12:30 noon, Room 209, Clearview Building, Gordon Head campus. Esquimalt-Saanich, George Chatterton, 12:30 noon, Room 306, Clearview Building.

36 Feet

Helper Hurt In Fall

A wrong step sent a 17-year-old Saanich youth to hospital Monday with a fractured arm and multiple bruises. The 36-foot fall was broken part way down by scaffolding, protecting him from more serious injury.

Police said carpenter's helper Ronald Landley of 930 Arundel was working on the third floor of a new apartment building at Dingley Dell when he stepped on a loose board and fell.

He is in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Log Birler Proposed For Board

Sooke School Board chairman John Barntan announced Monday that he will propose gravel contractor Ardiel Wickheim for appointment as trustee when the board meets tonight.

If the board agrees, it will forward his recommendation to the department of education, which will likely concur.

Mr. Wickheim, 37 and a native of Sooke, three times won the world log-birler championship.

If appointed, Mr. Wickheim will replace Percy Bulltrum, who resigned in September when he moved from the district.

Another trustee, Fred Boulter, who quit in August, has not yet been replaced.

The seat of chairman Barntan, the one vacated by Mr. Boulter and that which Mr. Wickheim may fill all come up for election Dec. 11.

On the platform, to speak of their party's program for higher education, will be Victoria candidates J. Lloyd Brereton (NDP), David Groos (Liberal), Frank Hunter (Social Credit) and Clifford Waite (Progressive Conservative).

Also on the platform with statements will be Dean Ronald Jeffels, representing the faculty, and Paul Williamson, president of the Alma Mater Society.

Put Administration in Order
Sidney Will Seek Meeting With Inspector

By JIM BRAHAN

Sidney commission will seek a meeting with the inspector of municipalities in an attempt to put the village administration in order.

For the second time this year the commission has received a letter from the department of municipal affairs telling it to get its administration in order.

Commissioner Douglas Taylor lashed out at the four village officials who had resigned from office.

"I say there has not been much we could do with all the ridiculous shenanigans going on in this council," he said.

He noted that four people had quit council since the government report was handed down, and "not one of them had a valid reason."

"There has existed in this village an atmosphere so abnormal that no work has been done," he said.

He said that such a tremendous amount of extra work had been thrown on those that did not quit, that it had been impossible to fulfill the minister's requests.

"IRRESPONSIBLE?" "And then the very members, who didn't have the integrity to remain in office, called us irresponsible."

Commissioner Taylor told council it was time the members spoke out and made it clear "who is responsible and who is not."

It was quite an occasion for Mrs. Violet Muse last Friday when friends gathered at her Fort Street home to help her celebrate her 84th birthday. It was a real birthday party complete with decorated cake and presents. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blackburn were also there. Mrs. Muse came to Victoria 49 years ago from her home in Bolton, Lancs.—(Robin Clarke)

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in behalf of my brother who is so mad he is actually cross-eyed. (One eye sort of goes over to the side when he gets excited and this morning he was madder than I have ever seen him.)

Oogie is 15 and has a mind of his own for which I admire him. He likes the Beatles and also the Rolling Stones. Oogie is no nut but he does happen to wear his hair longer than most kids. This has been talked about at the dinner table a lot lately because my folks hate it.

A few days ago my Dad ordered Oogie to get a haircut. Oogie said he'd think about a trim but not an actual cut. Well, early this morning my Dad went into Oogie's bedroom with a pair of scissors and he whacked off big chunks of hair on the side and in the back. Oogie woke up a few minutes later and boy did he ever get mad. He screamed about liberty and human rights and the four freedoms. My dad said the freedom to let your hair grow like a sheep dog is not one of the four freedoms. Oogie said how a person wears his hair is his own personal business. My dad said as long as a kid lives in his parent's house, and eats and sleeps there, it is THEIR business, too.

How do you feel about this? —CUT TO THE QUICK.

Dear Cut: If there's anything I have no desire to get mixed up in it's a fight between a sheep dog and his parents.

If Oogie looked like some of the kids I've seen, I can understand why your dad lost his temper.

I do feel, however, that your dad should have laid down the law and ordered Oogie to get his hair trimmed instead of wielding the scissors himself.

Dear Ann Landers: My father was a successful but conservative business man. He would never buy a used car because, in his words, "It's foolish to buy somebody else's trouble." When I told him I wanted to marry a divorced man, he used the same phrase.

Although I am only 24 and have been married less than a year people who meet me on the street ask me if I've been sick. My husband has made a nervous wreck out of me with his fault finding. I can't do anything to suit him. He has a terrible temper and is tight with money.

So, Ann, when women write and ask if they should marry a divorced man, tell them what my Dad told me — advice I was too stupid to believe: It's foolish to buy somebody else's trouble. —WOULDN'T LISTEN.

Dear Wouldn't: Thank you for letting us know how it is with you, but the statistics tell another story. The chances for a lasting marriage are slightly better when one of the partners has had a previous marriage. Surprised? I was, too.

When you get to the two-time losers, however, the statistics take a sharp turn for the worse. And the more often a person marries after that the slimmer his chances for making a go of the next one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHOULD I OR SHOULDN'T I? You SHOULDN'T! The man you describe has all the qualities of a dog except loyalty. Tell him to get lost.

JOLLY TIME
heap better pop corn than Grandma used to pop!

Seams Rip

Fat Fool Selves

NEW YORK (UPI)—The fat of the land fool themselves. Buttons pop. Seams rip. They say—"The cleaner must have shrunk my clothes."

The needle on the scale moves a little higher at each weigh-in. They say—"Must remember to have that adjusted. It's not telling the truth."

The day they stop fooling themselves they get out of bed all irritated about the expectation that one must be jolly if fat. The stage is set for dieting when they take a real look at themselves, face and all, in a mirror.

Good dieting, you see, starts in the mind. Once the resolution to pare down sticks, you're halfway to a slimmer figure — according to common sense dieting advice beamed at the nation's nurses in the current issue of "Squibb Nurse's Notes."

"Safe weight control is not 'dieting' in the crash-sense of the word," the nurses are told. "It is a way of life, and a healthier life for that matter."

The advice for the nurses who are overweight applies just as well to the 79 million Americans in all walks of life who are too heavy. Ann Williams-Heller, a food consultant on healthful weight control, tells the nurses this:

"To lose weight permanently, never ever try to lose too fast; become a slave to your scales (once a week—same time, same scales, same amount of clothing); count calories while you eat (having planned your meal, enjoy it)."

Other weight control tips from the food consultant who studied in Vienna under Austrian diet expert, Dr. Karl Eppinger: —Consult your doctor. Get his advice and green light before you start dieting. He will help you establish your best daily 'calorie frame' and advise you on possible, regular moderate exercise.

—Find an easy-to-live with meal plan with the greatest possible variety of foods. Once you have your meal plan, get away from calorie-counting.

—To lick compulsive nibbling, keep busy—your hands as well as your mind.

—Eat regularly; don't starve at one meal, then gorge at the next. If you must nibble, reach for "free foods"—celery sticks, mushrooms, radishes, water-cress.

—Cut down on water-drinking with meals. People who drink lots of water while eating tend to wash down foods, fail to chew properly.

—Should an unruly appetite tempt you, eat a salad with low-calorie dressing before you start dinner.

Other than helping good digesting, there is an added advantage to drinking less water and chewing more during meals.

Mrs. Heller said the more time it takes to enjoy a meal, the happier and more content the weight-watcher will feel.

Unhappiness, by the way, contributes to some over-eating. Studies have shown that food often is used to substitute for displaced emotions such as frustration, loneliness, boredom, worry, tension.

Noodle a' la Bretonne

Sprouts and Noodles Good One-Dish Meal

From Brittany to the Belgian border, every mamean has her special family one-meal dishes. Here is one such heirloom recipe... combining brussels sprouts, pork and noodles for a very splendid and sustaining country supper.

This main course dish requires only a good French loaf for mopping up, a rowdy red wine or some cider for washing down, and a chocolate or chestnut souffle or a French cheese for dessert.

a'la Bretonne

(makes 6 servings)

1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons paprika, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1½ pounds lean pork shoulder, cubed, 3 strips bacon, diced, 2 cups chicken stock or bouillon, 4 packages (10 ounces each) frozen brussels sprouts, or, 2 pounds (2 quarts or 4 10-ounce cartons) fresh brussels sprouts, 1½ cups heavy cream, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups), ½ cup chopped scallions or green onions, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Mix together flour, sugar and seasonings; coat pork with flour mixture. Sauté bacon in skillet; remove and drain on paper toweling. Add pork to hot drippings and brown well on all sides. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons drippings. Stir in stock; reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes or until pork is almost done. Add brussels sprouts; cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes until brussels sprouts are just tender. Gradually stir in cream; heat to serving temperature.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally until noodles are tender. Drain in colander.

Saute scallions slowly in butter 5 minutes; toss lightly with noodles. Arrange noodles around edge of serving platter; spoon brussels sprout mixture into centre of ring. Sprinkle reserved bacon bits over all.

Breakfast Special

Eggs turn their sunniest sides up when they're sprinkled with Processed Canadian cheese. Just fry them as usual, in a little butter over low heat. When they're almost cooked, sprinkle about 2 tablespoons shredded processed cheese over each egg. The cheese will melt while the eggs finish cooking.

Hot Waffle Sandwiches

Here's an idea you'll be interested in, if yours is a home-for-lunch family. Top hot waffles with a slice each of Processed Cheese, tomato and partially-cooked side-bacon. Slip under the broiler until the cheese is bubbly and crisp, then serve immediately. We use frozen waffles when we're in a hurry.

At Dinner Time...

Give cooked rice instant glamor by stirring in shredded Canadian Cheddar Cheese and chopped walnuts. Delicious with creamed seafood dishes!

Perfect Potatoes

Leftover mashed potatoes become creamy good when mixed with half as much shredded Cream Cheese. Flavor to taste with finely-chopped onion, Worcestershire sauce, a pinch of dry mustard, salt and pepper. Form into rolls, coat with crushed cornflakes and bake in a 350°F. oven 20 to 25 minutes. Good, this time of year, served with fried tomatoes and cold meat.

Tomato Tricks

Speaking of tomatoes, those beautiful breakfast ones are good for broiling. Just cut them into thick slices, top with a thin slice of onion and plenty of Canadian Cheddar Cheese and broil until the cheese is bubbly.

After the Game

The football fan will be cheering in your corner when you serve them the next hot cheese-y chili after the next game. Start with your own favorite recipe... we know you all have one. Then just before serving stir in a generous amount of shredded Processed Cheese. Processed Cheese melts quickly and adds a special flavor to this hot and hearty favorite.

Hot Rolls

Next time you open a package of refrigerator butterflake rolls, brush them with melted butter and roll in grated Canadian Cheddar Cheese. Then tuck them into muffin pans for baking. This gives them a delicious coating that's wonderful with salads or casserole dishes.

Red Roses In Bride's Bouquet

Darlene Gail Matte became the bride of Mr. John Warren Ingham at a recent ceremony in St. Peter's Anglican Church. Rev. Kenneth King officiated at the wedding for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matte, 467 Lamson Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ingham, 150 Kamloops Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a floor-length gown of white organza styled with lily point sleeves and jewelled neckline. Her scalloped veil fell to her waist from a seed pearl crown. She wore a rhinestone necklace and matching earrings, gift of the groom, and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Turquoise sheath style gowns featuring overskirts were worn by Mrs. Swain and Mrs. Coby Bradley, bridesmaids. Miss Yvonne Day, bridesmaid, wore a similarly styled gown in shrimp pink. They wore accessories to match and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Carrie Burke as the little flower girl was in a pink lace frock. She wore white accessories and carried a basket of pink roses and pink and white carnations.

Mr. Walter Allison, bride's uncle was best man. Ushering were Mr. Rickey Matte, bride's brother, and Mr. Allan Day.

Mr. Thomas Day proposed the toast to the bride at a reception which followed in the Carlton Club.

The newlyweds are now making their home at 4152 North Road, following a honeymoon trip to Portland, Ore. For travelling the bride wore a turquoise knit suit and beige accessories.

A coffee party and sale of home cooking will be held at the new "Y" building on Courtney Street by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the YM-YWCA, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Wednesday. Mrs. J. A. Wallace, president, and Mrs. P. Meredith, general convener, will welcome guests. Proceeds from the affair will go toward women's projects in the new building. Preparing for the party are, from left to right, Mrs. A. D. Avery, food convener; Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Mrs. H. O. Past, home cooking, and Mrs. Meredith.

Senior Civil Service Position Meant Sacrifices for Woman

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—Olive J. Waters, one of a select group of women who have had successful careers in high-salary positions of the Canadian civil service, has retired.

Miss Waters says her 26 years in Ottawa, first as private secretary to ministers of finance, defence, health and welfare, and later as the country's only female departmental secretary, were stimulating, exciting and enjoyable.

"But I've had to make some sacrifices. Any woman who chooses a career instead of marriage and a family has to make them. Not too many women are ready to make these sacrifices."

She says the biggest disadvantage for a woman in a senior position is this:

"Because you are a woman, you have to be constantly trying to strike a happy medium between being as aggressive as you have to be in order to do your job well, and being shrewish."

"A reputation for being a battle-axe never helps a working woman."

Miss Waters has never had that reputation. Friends and fellow-workers in the health department say she is charming and diplomatic, but also a hard worker combining efficiency and firmness.

Her long career in the public service started suddenly in 1939.

On the morning of Sept. 7, she was the young private secretary to J. L. Ralston, a prominent Montreal lawyer.

By evening, she had left the Montreal law office forever and was in Ottawa with Mr. Ralston, who had been summoned by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to join the cabinet as minister of finance.

Working for Mr. Ralston, who later became the wartime minister of national defence, put her in direct contact with the hectic life of Parliament Hill. She also served with Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton during his time as defence minister.

The frantic government activity of the war years prepared Miss Waters for the next big step up in her career.

In January, 1945, she was invited by the late Brooke Claxton, first minister of the newly formed national health and welfare department, to become his departmental secretary.

Her new title sounded dry. But in the fledgling department, and later as it grew into the mammoth administrative service it is today, Olive Waters was to be an indispensable link in the chain of command.

Responsible to the deputy minister and to the minister, she became the only woman departmental secretary in Canada.

As the department grew, all her resources were challenged by the task of preparing the estimates for the departmental spending budget, now the third highest of all federal departments.

"I've had a fine career but I don't intend ever to work again for a living," says Miss Waters, who retired in September. "Women who work have to sacrifice too many things they instinctively want."

She plans an extended stay in Europe, probably in Italy.

Mrs. A. Staub of Haney, B.C., announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Catherine Louise, to Mr. Harvey Jack Chayeski, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Chayeski, 1120 McClure Street. The wedding will take place at 7 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 6, in St. Mark's Anglican Church, with Canon R. Willis officiating.—(Kandid Kamera)

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will officially open the new physical medicine treatment wing of the Gorge Road Hospital on Wednesday. Mrs. Pearkes will also attend the opening. On Thursday the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will travel to Vancouver where they will attend a luncheon at Simon Fraser University prior to His Honor, as visitor to the university, installing Dr. G. M. Shrum, as first chancellor and Dr. P. D. McTaggart-Cowan as first president of the university. Following these ceremonies a Degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, will be conferred on the Lieutenant-Governor. Cmdr. J. Roberts will be aide-de-camp in attendance.

Opening Night Party

Bastion Theatre' Actors' committee members are getting ready for the season's second Opening Night coffee party with guests numbering in the hundreds. Mrs. Joyce Wallace is convening the after-show party, to which the audience is invited this evening—the opening night of Sound of Murder at the McPherson Playhouse. The theme, appropriate for the time of year and the mood of the play—a mystery—will be a Halloween one, with pumpkins, and flower centrepieces in autumn colors.

Silver Wedding

An anniversary cake, decorated in a silver and white theme, centred the refreshment table when Miss Sherrin Molyard entertained at an anniversary "at home" recently for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Molyard, in their Newton Street home. The couple was married in Vancouver on Oct. 17, 1940. Serviteurs during the affair were Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs. John Dillon, the Misses Jo-Anne Molyard and Sheila Gray. More than 50 guests attended.

To Wed

Mrs. Susan Marriott, 205 Regency Apartments, announces the engagement of her daughter, Sayde Roberta Riggall, to Mr. David Graham Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moss of Vancouver. The wedding will take place on Thursday, November 11, at 2 p.m. in Vancouver Heights United Church. Rev. Allan Dixon will officiate.

Dainty Lace Hearts Appliqued on Gown

Metropolitan United Church Watson will make their home Alex Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. was the setting for the recent marriage of Frances Lorraine Sinclair and Mr. Bruce Denis Watson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Young Sinclair, 3351 Cedar Hill Road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Watson, 421 Durban Street. White chrysanthemums were at the altar for the candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. E. L. Butler.

Dainty hearts appliqued in Guipure lace edged the hemline and sweeping train of the bride's floor-length gown of tissue taffeta. Matching appliques enhanced the waistline of the empire style bodice which featured a portrait neckline and lily-point sleeves. A crown of seed pearls and crystals held the bride's cathedral veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

Mr. Sinclair gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's sisters, Mrs. Vern O'Brien, matron of honor, and the Misses Beverly and Vicky Sinclair, bridesmaids, wore floor-length gowns featuring empire style bodices in dark turquoise velvet and pale turquoise peau de soie skirts. They wore headpieces en tone and carried cascades of white carnations.

Miss Valerie O'Brien, bride's niece, as flower girl wore a white nylon dress featuring a lace embroidered bodice. She carried a basket of Johanna Hill roses and carnations.

Mr. Brian Turner was best man. Ushering were Mr. Brian Watson and Mr. Kerry MacDonald.

For a honeymoon to southern United States the bride wore a shrimp-colored Italian-knit woollen suit and white hat. She wore black accessories and a white feathered carnation corsage.

On their return Mr. and Mrs.

Saanich Court for Coroner's Use?

Attorney-General Bonner remained calm Monday in the face of Saanich plans for Supreme Court action to bring its Vernon Avenue courtroom back into use.

He said he believed Saanich quest was held there Monday night.

Coroner's inquests have generally been held at funeral parlors in the city. Mr. Bonner said he believes inquests are held often enough here to justify use of Saanich's court for that purpose.

Another possible use for the empty court facilities could be accommodation for expansion of the adjacent Saanich police department, he said.

Mr. Bonner did not comment on an announcement during the weekend that Saanich intends to take its case to the B.C. Supreme Court.

The Saanich application, to be filed Nov. 2, contends that Magistrate William Ostler erred when he stopped sitting at the Vernon Avenue courthouse and that the attorney-general incorrectly directed the magistrate in the action.

Economy Still 'Colonial' Run

Canada's economy is still in part a colonial economy, NDP candidate J. Lloyd Brereton told high-rise construction workers Monday.

"In B.C. besides exporting timber, partly processed as it is, we should be manufacturing things from it and exporting these products," he told workers at the Princess Victoria high-rise in Victoria West during their lunch break.

"What is the use," he asked, "of improving our universities, if the highly trained engineers they turn out have to go to other countries to find the industries that can utilize their talents and skill?"

The NDP candidate said he wanted to see Canada, and especially B.C., make use of her tremendous potentials.

"We shall then be in the position of welcoming both automation and immigrants to help us become a great nation."

Patricias To Elect

The Patricia Association annual meeting and election will take place at 8 p.m. Friday in the Queen's Own sergeants' mess at Work Point Barracks.

Former members of the PFCU expecting to attend have been asked to notify EV 4-6147.

Now Seven

Planners' List Culled

Forty-one applications for the job of director of Victoria's new community planning department were pruned to seven at a city council committee session Monday.

The seven applicants will be asked to come to Victoria for interviews early in November.

Among the 41 applications were letters from the United States, Great Britain and all across Canada. There was even one bid from Thailand.

DEGREES

City Manager Dennis Young said Monday that advertisements were placed in newspapers and professional journals in Canada, the U.S., Britain and Australia.

The seven applicants who will be interviewed all have master's degrees in planning and several of them have been in charge of large planning departments in other cities.

Mr. Young said he thought the city would have to pay $12,000 to $14,000 for a competent man who would be able to integrate all stages of planning from simple zoning to long-range use of the city's resources.

B-A's FIRST STRIKE IN ALMOST 60 YEARS WHY?

According to J. R. Duncan, O.C.A.W. Canadian Director, "the only real value of the present strike, as far as the union is concerned, is to make the public aware of Labor's problems." — Vancouver Sun — October 13, 1965.

WHAT ARE THESE PROBLEMS?

WAGES?

O.C.A.W. workers in B-A's B.C. Marketing Division receive from $401 to $508 a month with an average wage of $464 a month, 40 hour week — already 15.5% above the average industrial composite wages of industry in general in B.C. Almost 50% of the B-A workers earn over $482 a month.

O.C.A.W. turned down a $59 a month increase offered by B-A as a no-strike package offer.

AUTOMATION?

Automation is not a threat in B-A.

In spite of steady improvement in plant efficiency, normal staff turn-over has absorbed small, annual staff reduction without layoff.

In fact —

- No one has been laid off at any B-A refinery since 1949.
- B-A's Port Moody Refinery, opened in 1958, has created 110 new jobs.
- In B.C. 90% of the O.C.A.W. employees in B-A have at least 5 years service.
- B-A's Marketing plant staff in B.C. has increased in the past year.

BENEFITS?

Company pays for or contributes towards:

Pension Plan; Savings Plan; Sick Leave; Hospital Plan; Medical Plan; Life Insurance Plan; Self-Improvement Education Plan.

WHAT HAS STRIKE ACHIEVED?

A deterioration of relationship with one employee group? Yes. B-A hoped it would never see picket-line violence; truck harassment; picketing of homes — even shooting.

A strain on customer relationships? Yes, to a minimum degree. We quote Mr. Duncan "Getting the customers back when the boycott is over is as much a problem as getting them to stop patronizing the company in the first place." — Vancouver Sun — October 13, 1965.

HOW WILL THIS HELP B-A's EMPLOYEES NOW ON STRIKE?

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESSNUT

I have been devoting quite a bit of space in this column lately to outlining the proper methods of harvesting and storing the various ornamentals like dahlias, gladioli and begonias, but I was reminded in no uncertain terms the other day by one of my regular readers that I haven't had very much to say about the storage of the humble carrots, onions and spuds.

This was an unforfeitable oversight on my part, for I can't think of anything more discouraging to the home gardener than to have his lovely home-grown vegetables go bad in storage. After all the blood, sweat and tears that have gone into their raising, it is heartbreaking to see blue whiskers forming on the onions and white mould on the carrots.

To talk theory for a bit, there are a few basic principles which must be followed if vegetables are to be stored successfully through the winter, and I would say that the first and most important of these is to store only sound, healthy specimens which have been allowed to complete their growth. Immature vegetables in particular definitely will not keep.

Baby carrots, golf-ball-size beets and finger-length Zucchini make grand eating straight from the garden, but they are too young and sappy to remain in good condition in winter storage. Onions with thick necks, potatoes which were dug before the skin was set, hairy carrots and immature squash should always be sent to the kitchen to be eaten up right away, for to put them into storage is just asking for trouble—trouble which could spread through ALL the stored vegetables.

Next to maturity and sound health, the most important factor in the safe storage of vegetables is temperature, which ideally should be as close to the freezing point as possible without actual frost. It must be remembered that the normal growth processes lead inevitably to either sprouting or rot, and to keep vegetables in an edible condition for any length of time, these growth processes must be slowed to a snail's pace. As growth almost stops when the thermometer drops below 40 degrees, it follows that the temperature in the storage place should range between 32 and 40 degrees; the higher the temperature, the shorter will be the storage life of the vegetables.

This temperature range is not too hard to maintain in a farm dugout or an old-fashioned root cellar, but it isn't easy to find a suitable place in a modern furnace-heated home. A 50-degree fruit cupboard is better, than nothing, but storage life is correspondingly reduced.

A third factor is humidity, and here again the root cellar and farm dugout score heavily for the dirt floor contributes quite a bit of moisture to the air. The very dry winter air of a furnace-heated home can be counteracted to some extent by burying such vegetables as carrots and beets in boxes of slighted moistened sand or peat moss.

The fourth factor—and this is an important one—is ventilation, for unless there is some movement of air through the vegetable store, it becomes musty and stuffy, leading to all kinds of weird rots and fungus growths and taints. The dugout and root cellar, excellent in other respects, are often deficient in ventilation. Cleanliness and freedom from smells are essential, of course; I remember one occasion when the family over-shoes were inadvertently stored in the same basement room as the vegetables, and the ghosts of those rubber boots appeared at every meal!

These, then, are the theoretical considerations. In my next column we will take up practical storage conditions for a few of our common vegetables.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Sir Alec Honors Missus

PARIS (NANA)—Sir Alec Guinness lingered in Paris after completing Hotel Paradiso, because he wanted to give a birthday party for his wife in the Left Bank apartment in which they have lived since the start of the picture. Most men give their wives jewels or similar bric-a-brac for a birthday. But Sir Alec gave his missus a set of compasses and drawing materials. Two Englishmen flew from London for the party—actors Anthony Quayle and Tom Courtney.

"Do actors come to you for advice?" I asked Guinness. "They come to me but not for advice," he replied. "They come to tell me how they are going to play Hamlet." I asked him, "After you won the Tony award for Dylan in New York, wasn't there tremendous interest in your new career?" "Oh yes," he said. "They promptly assigned someone else to play Dylan in the film." At last report the someone else was Richard Harris. Next job for Guinness: Arthur Miller's play, Incident at Vichy, in London.

Gina Lollobrigida was saying during the film with Sir Alec, "In America, if you are accepted they bring you a Coca-Cola to show that at heart you are a regular guy. In England they bring you a cup of tea to show you are one of the chaps. In France you get coffee or champagne if you're really in." "What about Italy?" I asked. "You don't get anything," said Gina, explaining, "they're too busy kissing your arm, and that's the best of all."

Jean Anouilh has written his first screenplay, To Kill a King, which Peter Glenville will direct. Peter is after Sophia Loren and Sir Alec Guinness to star. But first, Peter has an appointment in Mexico with Elizabeth Taylor and Montgomery Clift for Reflections in a Glass Eye, after Elizabeth and Richard Burton complete The Taming of the Shrew in Italy. This follows their appearance at Oxford University in Dr. Faustus, with Mrs. Burton—as I told you in this column some months ago—playing Helen of Troy, who Faustus begs: "Make me immortal with a kiss."

Rex Harrison as Dr. Doolittle, the beloved character of British children, is able to talk to animals. There will be a scene in the movie in which he has to fight a bull. Of course he doesn't want to kill the bull, so, in the arena, he whispers, "Look kid, I don't want to hurt you so make it look good." The bull winks, then snorts and rushes at him. "Not that good," says Doolittle.

"I don't know one couple in Italy that is happily married," said Monica Vitti who is Italian, beautiful, starring for 20th Century-Fox in London in Modesty Blaise—and single. "I am not married," she continued, "because in Italy that is a serious thing. The law on divorce will never be changed, because I don't think the church changes."

Errol Flynn's famed or notorious yacht Zaca (use your own adjective) is still unsold because Flynn's widow, Pat Wymore, believes it is worth more than the $30,000 an English businessman was prepared to pay. However, the repairs for the boat, which hasn't been used much since Errol's death, will come to more than $100,000. A compromise is indicated.

Service Lost Art

By SYDNEY HARRIS

One of the most distressing contradictions in our affluent society is the appalling lack of good service—even though the number of service workers in the country has, for the first time in our history, passed the number of production workers. It is becoming increasingly harder to find a good carpenter, a reliable plumber, a competent electrician, a skilled craftsman in a dozen different lines. We are not turning out enough of these people, because their occupations do not have status in our eyes.

The situation is even more desperate in regard to cooks. The state of public cooking is shockingly low. Not one restaurant in 50 even tries to rise above mediocrity in its cuisine. Good cooks are hard to get; even bad cooks are hard to get.

In Europe, however, a talented cook has nearly professional status. He is long and carefully trained, usually has a high esprit de corps about his work. A superior cook is looked up to, not down at, as in North America.

Another case in point is barbers. The only decent haircut I have ever had for men is the hands of foreign barbers. The North American barber is trained too fast and sloppily; he wields his clippers like a lawnmower and has no concept of the delicate art of shaping hair with a straight razor.

Another critical shortage is in the area of auto mechanics. In this most mechanized area in the world, our auto-owning population is victimized by incompetent help and interminable delays in getting the simplest repairs made.

North Americans, by and large, do not want their sons to become cooks or barbers or auto mechanics, carpenters or repair men. We are infatuated with the myth of white collar affluence, even though they often pay worse and offer less work-satisfaction than a craftsman can obtain.

An even more dangerous consequence of our entrapment in the white collar delusion is our difficulty in recruiting police men of above-average intelligence and character. Not only is the pay low and the risk high, but the social status is far down on the scale.

These are the people we need most, however, even in the computerized society of the future. There is no point in having 19 appliances in the affluent household, if there is no one to repair them. Or the most bountiful food supply in the world, if our cooks barely know a soufflé from a spaghetti. The affluent civilization seems to be strangling to death on its own worse and offer less work-satisfaction than a craftsman can obtain.

Cosmetics Drive Aimed—At Men!

By JACK SMITH

Men are about to be seduced by the cosmetics industry. It already has women in thrall. They have been made to believe they would perish without the unguents, oils, powders, dyes, paints and perfumes that gush from the industry's cornucopia.

Men always have laughed at women's pharmacopoeia—a catalogue of secret formulas, magic potions and exotic aromatics whose ancestors might have been found on the shelves of the medieval apothecary. Now, they're coming after us.

A newsletter and dope sheet circulated inside the business world by a soothsayer named Gallagher predicts that men's toiletries soon will be a half-billion-dollar industry.

This doesn't mean we are merely going to buy more hair oil, mustache wax and shaving cream. No, we are going the whole route—according to Gallagher—with such aids to masculine beauty as lip gloss, face talc, hair spray and eye shadow.

To escape the feminine aura of such preparations, the manufacturers are coming up with trade names they think have a masculine ring, such as Teak, Sir Natural, English leather, Brit and That Man.

The greatest shadow is cast by the news that Clairol, which makes women's hair dyes, now is tinkering with hints for men.

Does he or doesn't he? Imagine seeing that on a billboard under a picture, let us say, of Sandy Koufax. I'd never be able to watch him pitch again without wondering.

I suppose it isn't easy to think up trade names for men's cosmetics. One must avoid words of definite feminine stamp, such as pink, rose, secret, soft and velvet.

No; the name of a man's lip gloss, for example, ought to suggest a real he-man. A man isn't supposed to smell like a flower, either. He is supposed to smell like the woods or the tack room, with just a breath of chewing tobacco and straight rye whiskey.

A woman ought to enter a room like a bouquet; a man, like a mountain stream.

If we have to wear eye shadow, let it be called something like Camp Fire Ashes. Teak is already taken, but a good hard wood is always suitable for a line of men's cosmetics. How about nightstick?

Scents will be difficult indeed. The company that wants to get rich will connect something suggestive of the Scottish highlands, locomotive steam, a wet wool makinaw, gun oil, pigskin, licorice and a male moose.

They could call it Sam.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A North Carolina gun dealer admitted to Congressional investigators Monday that he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan for three months in 1961 when his sales of firearms showed a heavy increase.

Richard Constantineau, 34, of Wilmington, N.C., told the House Committee on Un-American Activities that his Klan membership might have been a possible factor in his store's business.

But he also said other reasons could have accounted for the heavier sales. "There's usually an upswing in business during the summer anyhow," he testified.

The gun dealer told the committee he broke with the Klan for two reasons—his wife was on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and he was neglecting his business.
Asked if he would join the Klan today, Constantineau declared he would not.

Beatles to Get Hair Trimmed To Collect OBEs from Queen

LONDON (UPI) — The Beatles, lightly trimmed but never shorn, move up the social ladder today when Queen Elizabeth makes them members of the Order of the British Empire.

For the solemn occasion, they are getting hair cuts. But it will be only a light trim, leaving the essential Beatle untouched.

There will be enough of the sheepdog mop remaining, as a matter of fact, to make it impossible for them to wear top hats.

"Where," asked John Lennon, "would we get toppers to fit over our mops?"

The shaggy quartet—the first rock group to be so honored—said they would wear lounge suits rather than morning coats and would waive the privilege of bringing girlfriends or wives to Buckingham Palace.

"It's funny," said Paul McCartney, 23, "but we've never been booked for the palace before, though we must have played every other palace there is."

Queen Elizabeth appointed the Beatles members of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire in her birthday honor's list last June. Their names were suggested by Prime Minister Harold Wilson who represents a Liverpool district in parliament.

The award was made because of the millions of dollars in royalties from songs and earnings from records and personal appearances they have brought into Britain.

Injunction Quashed

Chaplin's Book 'Vulgar Trash'

LONDON (UPI) — The appeal court said Monday the ghosted autobiography of Michael Chaplin, son of Charlie Chaplin, was "vulgar trash."

But the court allowed an appeal by the publishers, Leslie Frewin, against an injunction asked by the younger Chaplin restraining them from publishing the book "I Couldn't Smoke the Grass on My Father's Lawn." The 49-year-old bearded Chaplin won the injunction last month in the high court.

Frewin undertook not to publish the book pending an appeal by Chaplin to the House of Lords, the highest appeal court in Britain.

His lawyer, Michael Kempster, was quoted as saying that the book "amounts to assassination of a minor's character and exploiting his inexperience and poverty for private gain."

It would amount to "disloyal remarks about his own relations," the lawyer said.

Judge Delays Trial; Key Witness Away

QUEBEC (CP) — A witness vacationing in the West Indies yesterday to handle Darabauer's case since he was arrested and charged with defrauding and conspiring to defraud Junior Holdings, a small Quebec City investment firm, said the publicity which has surrounded the case was another reason for Daoust as an associate of Darabauer in a restaurant and another business.

Mr. Daoust, the seventh lawyer to handle Darabauer's case, said he was arrested and charged with defrauding and conspiring to defraud Junior Holdings, a small Quebec City investment firm, said the publicity which has surrounded the case was another reason for Daoust as an associate of Darabauer in a restaurant and another business.

Price Hike Sought For Beer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the B.C. Hotels Association says hotel owners in the province want to increase the price of beer sold in their establishments.

W. S. Wainwright said hotels are unable to significantly streamline their operations to offset recent wage increases despite a five per cent increase in room rates in the last year.

He told the association's annual convention that beverage price increases were also necessary.

Mr. Wainwright said the association had been meeting with the Liquor Control Board to discuss price increases before the strike of brewery workers began. The strike ended last week.

Big Storm May Halt Explosion

ANCHORAGE (AP) — A storm with winds up to 75 miles an hour was battering Amchitka Island near the far tip of the Aleutian chain Monday and the possibility was raised that a planned underground nuclear explosion on the island may be delayed.

The department of defence nuclear experiment project Long Shot is scheduled now for detonation Wednesday.

Project officials said they are still hopeful weather and operating conditions would be favorable at the scheduled detonation time.

Precise timing plays an important role in the project which is designed to provide scientific information on the nature of man-made seismic disturbances and their long-distance travel time.

No Fooling!

Rivard Seeking Seat

MONTREAL (CP) — Lucien Rivard, Montreal newspaper reporter who has derived and caused amusement because his name is the same as that of the notorious convicted narcotics-smuggler, filed nomination papers Monday as a candidate in the federal election Nov. 8.

Mr. Rivard listing himself as a representative of the Rhinoceros party entered the election in Montreal Papineau constituency, represented in the last parliament by Guy Fauriol, president of the Privy Council who is Quebec Liberal leader.

The Rhinoceros party is an intellectual group that takes a sardonic view of all politics as now practised.

The reporter for Montreal La Presse, Canada's largest French-language newspaper, at the time of Lucien Rivard's break from Bordeaux jail earlier in the year wrote humorous stories about the Rivard case based on the fact his name and that of the escaped prisoner, now held by American authorities, are identical.

Mr. Fauriol was justice minister at the time of the escape.

POTASH VENTURE

Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. has entered into an agreement with Homestake Mining Company and U.S. Borax and Chemical Corporation to jointly own a potash production plant near Saskatoon. The Canadian company will own 20 per cent of the stock and the two American companies will share the remaining 80 per cent.

The plant will have a capacity of 1,500,000 tons of potash a year.

While primarily in the meat packing and food processing business, Swift has a long association with the fertilizer industry. It produced phosphates independently and nitrogen in association with Skelly Oil.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF CENTRAL SAANICH

A Public Hearing will be held in the Central Saanich Municipal Hall on Tuesday, November 2nd, 1965 at 7:30 p.m. to hear all persons who deem their interest in property affected by the proposed Zoning Amendment By-Law No. 229.

General terms and intent of the provisions of By-Law No. 229:

- (1) Zoning District Schedule "A", Section 5 is hereby amended by deleting from Subsection 5.1 (d) Agricultural Zones and adding to Subsection 5.1 (b) General Commercial Zones the following:
- Lot "A" Section 14, Range 3 East, South Saanich District Plan 18189, to allow the use of the above described property for the manufacture of small trailers and campers.

A copy of By-Law No. 229 may be inspected in the Central Saanich Municipal Hall any week day from the printing of this notice to date of the Hearing between the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

F. B. DURRANT,
Municipal Clerk.

Sharp Confirms China Deal

Near-Record Wheat Sale

TORONTO (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp confirmed Monday night that Canada has signed with Communist China one of the biggest wheat-sale contracts in history, worth more than $400,000,000.

Arriving for a political meeting in his riding of Toronto-Eglinton, the Liberal minister said estimates of the size of the deal by sources in the grain trade—225,000,000 bushels worth about $400,000,000—were the minimum value of the contract.

Canada signed a contract in 1963 with the Soviet Union for 230,000,000 bushels. Mr. Sharp declined to give further details pending scheduled formal announcement Thursday giving credit arrangements.

Pakistan Charges 'Nazi Acts'

India Snubs UN Sitting

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Pakistan has accused India of carrying out wholesale extermination in Kashmir on a scale comparable to the Nazi massacre of Jews in Germany.

In an impassioned and highly emotional plea before an emergency session of the security council, marked by India's walkout during a recess, Pakistan Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto accused India of having "no conscience—no integrity."

Appealing for the security council to take steps toward a political settlement of the Kashmir dispute, Bhutto warned that "if the United Nations remains unmoved, Pakistan will take up the challenge and will be prepared for the ultimate consequences—of life or destruction."

He accused India of taking advantage of the month-old UN-ordered cease-fire "to exterminate the population of certain areas in Jammu and Kashmir."

Referring to the Nazi extermination of Jews in Germany, Bhutto accused India of "perpetrating similar acts" in Kashmir.

41 Afro-Asian

Peking Stand Rebuked

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Algeria has informed delegates attending the Afro-Asian summit's preparatory committee here that 41 countries have agreed to attend the conference Nov. 5.

The Algerian report came Monday as China stepped up its offensive to have the twice-postponed summit meeting adjourned a third time.

An official Algerian statement did not say at what level the 41 countries would be represented at the Algiers conference.

Delegates who attended Sunday's committee meeting said China appeared more determined than ever to postpone the summit, and to prevent the discussion going before the Afro-Asian foreign ministers who are due to meet here Thursday.

Dejection at Houston space centre

Nominations

1,013 Aim For House

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A late surge of political hopefuls jumped into the Nov. 8 federal election race Monday as nominations closed across the country.

A total of 1,013 candidates were nominated for the 285 House of Commons seats compared with a record 1,023 who contested the 1963 general election.

As usual, a scattering of late-blooming independents in Quebec helped swell the total. Quebec ended with 18 last-day candidates—13 independents, four New Democratic Party and one Creditiste. There also were four withdrawals from the unofficial lists—two independents and two NDP.

TWO MEMBERS

The deadline for submitting nomination papers in 242 of the 263 ridings was 2 p.m. local standard time. Nominations closed two weeks ago in 21 far-flung constituencies where extra time is needed to distribute election supplies. Two ridings, Queens in Prince Edward Island and Halifax, return two members each to the Commons.

The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are fielding a full slate of 265 candidates as they did in 1963. The New Democrats have nominated 255, 23 more than in 1963. Social Credit 87 and Creditiste 78.

PARTY CHANGE

There also are 12 Communists, the same as in the last election, and 53 independents. Of the 265 members in the last House, 237 are seeking reelection but at least one won't make it. Gerard Girouard, elected as Social Credit member in Labelle in 1963 but who later joined the PC party, is contesting Hull where Liberal

Peace Unit, Tanks In Show of Force

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—About 2,000 inter-American peace force troops, backed by American tanks, moved into the rebel area of this Dominican capital Monday on a peace-forcing mission.

Bands of youths ran through the streets shouting slogans against the United States and Brazil, whose soldiers make up most of the force. Once when a crowd gathered, Brazilian troops put on gas masks ready to hurl tear gas. But there were no incidents.

PARTISANS ANGRY

The operation was ordered by Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy and whipped up the anger of rebel partisans in the heart of the city. Three shots rang out during the early part of the pre-dawn move but there was no official word as to what the shooting was about. The troops were called in to put an end to a wave of violence that has claimed more than nine civilian lives in the city in the last week. The deaths, resulting from shooting incidents, demonstrated that a considerable number of weapons remain in the hands of civilians.

SEARCH PROBABLE

There were reliable reports that a vigorous search for arms would be undertaken during the next two days. The move appeared to have paralysed almost all business activity in the centre of the city. Most government offices were closed, the presidential palace was nearly deserted.

Sixty Cubans Reach Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Sixty Cuban refugees, including 17 children, arrived Monday night in the first boat to reach Florida since last Friday and the U.S. Coast Guard rescued 27 others from choppy seas.

Red Regulars Ring U.S. Force

SAIGON (UPI)—A fresh regiment of regular North Vietnamese army troops was dispatched Tuesday night to be a key part of the Communist force that has besieged the U.S. special forces camp at Plei Me for nearly a week.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Communist unit—identified as the 32nd regiment—is in addition to the North Vietnamese 325th division, which has three regiments already committed to the same area.

It was the first official disclosure that North Viet Nam had committed an additional regular army unit to the war, where the U.S. military strength is 154 pushing past the 150,000 mark.

The new North Vietnamese troops were reported to have been the backbone of the big Communist force that ambushed a relief column of Vietnamese troops at least three times during the weekend.

Trial Recessed

Monk's Killer Collapses

NEW YORK (AP)—Exiled Russian Prince Felix Youssouppoff, 79, assassin of the mad monk Rasputin in Czarist Russia, collapsed Monday while testifying about that historic death a half-century ago.

A court attendant and a police emergency squad administered oxygen to him and a nurse and a doctor were called to the courtroom.

The judge recessed the trial until today, telling jurors that Youssouppoff is "feeling much better, but under all the circumstances it is better for him to rest today."

Youssouppoff, suing the Columbia Broadcasting System for $1,500,000 because of a television program about the assassination, had been in the witness box for about a half-hour.

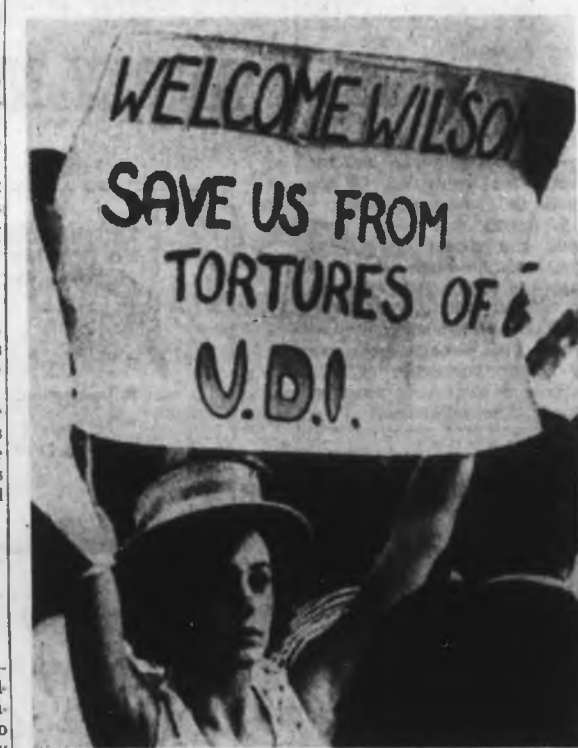

He was being cross-examined about whether he had used his wife, Princess Irina, to lure Rasputin to his palace in St. Petersburg where the monk was slain Dec. 17, 1916.

CBS lawyer Carleton D. Eldridge referred the prince to his own book, Rasputin, giving Youssouppoff's account of the celebrated assassination. The lawyer questioned Youssouppoff about a passage in the book saying "I am ashamed of the despicable deceit and horrible treachery to which I was to resort" in getting Rasputin to the palace.

Eldridge repeatedly was pressing the prince—"what did you refer to?"—when the witness collapsed.

To Avert Rhodesian Tragedy

Negroes Cheer Wilson But Smith Stays Home

White girl greets Wilson for native cause

SALISBURY (AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Wilson arrived here Monday night for a showdown with Rhodesia's Prime Minister Ian Smith, saying he had come "to avert a tragedy."

While 6,000 Negroes cheered him, the British leader made it clear that he wants at all costs to head off a grab for independence by Smith's white Rhodesian government.

He told an airport press conference: "I want to do everything possible to avert a tragedy if a certain action were to be taken. That is why I am here."

Wilson refused to say what counter-measures the British government would take if the Rhodesian government took the plunge for independence from Britain.

Wilson's government has warned it would consider any unilateral declaration of independence tantamount to treason and rebellion by Smith's government, which rules 4,000,000 Negroes and 250,000 whites. Smith was not at the airport to receive Wilson, but Rhodesian officials said protocol did not demand Smith's presence. Deputy Prime Minister Clifford Walter DuPont was the chief Rhodesian official in the airport receiving line.

"No joy, no joy," was the epitaph sounded by the radar men scanning the orbital path intended for the Agena target vehicle. The 105,000-mile space chase—a rendezvous-and-docking mission—was postponed until probably early next year.

DISAPPOINTMENT

"Disappointment" echoed in every statement from United States space officials.

Still in the Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft on the ground when the scrub was announced, command pilot Walter Schirra said: "Gee, I'm sorry." Later on the ground, he told the launch crew.

"It was a beautiful spacecraft and had conditions been otherwise, we're confident we could have gone without a sweat."

NO HOLD UP

But both Robert Seamans, associate director of the U.S. space agency, and Robert C. Gilruth, head of the manned spacecraft centre, said the failure would not hold up the U.S. man-to-the-moon program.

Asked whether the failure would give the Russians a lead in the race to link up vehicles in space, manned flight chief George Mueller said: "Clearly,

Reds Pour Fake Oils and Is Paris Burning!

By ALAIN de LYROT
Copley News Service

PARIS—Art and politics do not mix. When they do the result can make tempers rise and faces turn scarlet.

This is the case in Paris now

in connection with the much-publicized exhibit of 100 French painting masterpieces loaned to the famed Louvre Museum by the Soviet Union.

The exhibit already had been shown in Bordeaux where it was a great success. In Paris it has attracted thousands of visitors since it opened in September. They have lined up at the Louvre to gaze at French paintings which had never been seen publicly in France.

The paintings shown were part of Russian collections from the days of Catherine the Great to the Soviet revolution.

The exhibit had been arranged under the auspices of Cultural Minister Andre Malraux, one of President Charles de Gaulle's closest associates. It was being held on an exchange basis, with the Louvre sending to the Soviet Union 50 of its most celebrated paintings.

The exchange was part of a thaw in Franco-Soviet relations that has seen the establishment of closer political, cultural and economic bonds between the two nations.

But obviously this was not stressed. Only art was officially involved.

Paris art critics generally expressed approval of the show, especially as affording the French public an opportunity to see for the first time the works of famous French artists.

Then a renowned international art dealer, Daniel Wildenstein,

Indoor Pool Hopes Dim As Board Shelves Plan

NANAIMO—Despite shelving of the school board plans for a swimming pool, it doesn't appear as though Nanaimo will take on an indoor pool as a centennial project.

Frank Ney, Nanaimo Centennial Committee chairman, said Monday an indoor pool would mean a completely new building.

This year the Kinsmen pool opened for the first time in Bowen Park. Ney said he had been in touch with the Recreation Commission, and he had been led to understand that this pool was never meant to be an indoor one.

"Some day I hope we have a recreation complex around the Civic Arena, and this would be the place to put an indoor pool."

"But we're back to the same old problem, the city builds it and everybody's using it."

PORT RENFREW—Two long-time residents of Port Renfrew were guests of honor at a retirement party, Saturday night, in the local community hall. Mr. and Mrs. Andy Davidson, well known for their participation in community affairs, were presented with gifts from the community and the B.C. Forest Products Co. Ltd., Port Renfrew logging division.

ROYSTON—Increased membership in the community club, coupled with a sound financial picture was reported at the first meeting of the new club year held recently. Treasurer Mrs. Daphne Richardson reported 358 paid up members. An amount in excess of $240 was realized from the Fall Rummage Sale which was held by the ladies' auxiliary. Funds are also being realized from hall rentals.

DUNCAN—The annual election of officers for the Duncan Kiwanis Club will be held October 27. The list of a new slate as announced by the club's nominating committee consists of: Harold Allman, president; Sam Kofski, vice-president; Harry Braden, treasurer, and directors Vic Billings, Ted Fall, Ted Greenhalgh, Doug Greenwood, Bill Jameson, Ted Shaw and Charles Torheim.

DUNCAN—Services were held Monday at the Hirst Funeral Chapel at Duncan for Torry Pedersen who died at King's Daughters' Hospital here October 21 following a lengthy illness.

He was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1908 and came to Duncan 10 years ago. He is survived by one brother, Otto, and one sister, Emelia Madson, both in Denmark.

COURTENAY—It's later than you think, Percy Fletcher, a lighting specialist, told a meeting of civic and organizational representatives at the weekend. He was speaking to the group at a luncheon in the Elk's Hall, sponsored by B.C. Hydro with Christmas decorating the topic of discussion.

DUNCAN—Charlotte Hoffheinz died at King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, following a lengthy illness. Born at Carbonado, Wash., she was a former resident of Nanaimo. For the past 19 years she had lived at Duncan. Services will be held at the Hirst Funeral Chapel today at 3:30 p.m., followed by cremation.

COURTENAY—Pioneer residents of the Comox Valley were guests at a dinner in the Native Sons' hall on Saturday night. A large gathering of old-timers talked with friends about the days when the Comox Valley was a tiny farming settlement. Mr. Theed Pearce, a former mayor of the City of Courtenay, and his wife were present. Mrs. Pearce lived on the island of Grenada in the West Indies where her father was a British governor. Grandma McKay of Union Bay and J. N. (Buster) Brown were both in attendance. Mr. Brown worked as a trainman when the Esquimalt and Nanaimo right of way ran through the middle of Courtenay.

DUNCAN—Long-time local resident Naomi Plaskett died at King's Daughters' Hospital here October 23 in her 88th year. Born at Nottingham, England, she came to Nanaimo and Ladysmith 75 years ago. For the past 55 years she had been a resident of Duncan and district. She was a member of Eastern Star, Sunset Chapter, Duncan and SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Three people are reported in satisfactory condition in King's Daughters' Hospital, and a fourth person was released after treatment Monday following a two-car accident on the Malahat early Sunday.

The driver of one car, Harry Eaton of Duncan, suffered a broken leg, broken pelvis and internal injuries.

MINOR INJURIES

His wife, Muriel, who at first was thought to be seriously hurt, suffered minor injuries.

A passenger in the car, Bob Hastings of Duncan, also suffered internal injuries, a broken leg and broken pelvis.

His wife was not injured.

SUFFERED SHOCK

Driver of the other car, 17-year-old Michael David Cardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Arsenault, 77 Howe, Victoria, was taken to hospital suffering shock, and was released Monday.

Const. William Saunders said both vehicles were demolished. The accident occurred about 1 a.m. Sunday morning when Mr. Eaton was travelling north, and the Cardin car was proceeding south.

School
Vote Shock?

COURTENAY—Taxpayers in School District 71 may be in for a shock when the trustees release figures for the referendum to be submitted to the voters this fall.

Preliminary plans for the Senior Secondary - Vocational School complex were discussed at a meeting here last night but board chairman Brian Walker steered discussion away from costs.

MEETING MONDAY

Actual figures will be hashed out at a closed meeting of the board next Monday night.

District superintendent C. E. Ritchie would not even hint a figure but warned it could exceed others being considered in Island areas this time. This might put it over the $1,000,000 mark.

TWENTY UNITS

The 20-unit project is slated for the site obtained from the department of national defence. It is a 92-acre property.

Stan Rowe, building and maintenance superintendent, went over sketch plans of the project. He explained it will take three years to build.

FEDERAL AID

Part of the comprehensive school project will be paid for with federal funds.

Mr. Ritchie said trustees might as well resign themselves to the fact "it will cost a tidy sum."

Chairman Walker commented "we are going to have to do a selling job for this project."

Friendly Cove Isolated

PORT ALBERNI — Three well-known West Coast leaders, Chiefs Alex McCarthy, Nelson Kietlah and Moses Smith, have expressed their concern for the safety of a group of 150 Indians living at Friendly Cove, a spot on the West Coast noted for its beauty and safe harbor since the days of the Spaniards.

But once outside the cove itself, the open sea in all its force and fury keeps the place isolated.

Until this fall the Canadian Fishing Company has had a floating store at Friendly Cove, a place where the inhabitants could buy food, gas and oil for their small boats, and most important of all, could use the radio-telephone in emergencies.

Now the company has pulled out the floating store for repairs, and presumably it will not return until spring, perhaps March or April.

Almost no fishboats are in use at Friendly Cove, only open outboard motor boats, as most of the workers in the area are loggers, not fishermen.

Friendly Cove is seven miles from Mangles Logging Camp on Kendrick Arm. The nearest source of food is Tahsis, more than 24 miles by boat subject to the notorious storms of the open sea on the West Coast.

Indian Affairs officials say there is a phone at the Nootka Cannery, about a mile away by boat. But that's the worst part of the journey. If anyone can get to the cannery, they could be almost sure of making it all the way to the hospital at Esplanza, also a good 24 miles away.

Indian Affairs Agent Jack Human agrees communication in isolated areas has always been a headache.

"If the B.C. telephone system or the B.C. Hydro comes strong enough, we make every attempt to have these Indian villages hooked up," he explained.

"But it is partly a matter of funds. Right now we are working closely with the council at Friendly Cove. They have suggested and we are trying to get a radio telephone system in for them, until the telephone company's microwave service is available.

"Because of the winter weather situation, planes are not often able to get in, any more than the boats can make it out." At present the Tahsis Prince calls once a week at Nootka dock and contract for a new dock has been let to Tom Gibson and Sons of Tofino. But as far as I know, the work is not yet underway.

Meantime the band at Friendly Cove does not look forward to winter and the raging storms of the Pacific, knowing that any outbreak of disease or major emergency finds them cut off from help almost as completely as they were 300 years ago.

Mayor Hammer, friends at opening of Centre

By MARY TAYLOR
PORT ALBERNI—Outside, in a typical Port Alberni autumn night, the street lights receded in the mist, and there was only a watery light on the black road. From within, the sound of pounding feet and native songs made it only too easy to imagine how early settlers must have felt as they heard eerie incantations in the night, not knowing whether they heard a love-song or a war dance.

More than 500 attended Saturday night's open house at the Friendship Centre and the entertainment offered will be long remembered.

From the Alberni Valley, from Nisnati, Ahousat, Ucluelet, all up and down the West Coast, groups of singers and dancers created war dances, love songs, hunting songs, succeeding one another with members of the audience rising from their seats and joining in spontaneously at times in the performance of long-remembered chants.

Without a printed program, many of the most fascinating performances were by men and women whose names will never be known to the white members of the audience. But one group from Ahousat received specially thunderous applause for their Eagle Dance, performed in skirt-like cedar bark costume.

From the residential school, a group of young boys and girls proved the past is far from dead, as they showed rhythm, poise and grace in ancient rituals of moving beauty. Trained by George Clutesi, the group wore replicas of traditional costumes, adorned with the Thunder Bird, Lightning Serpent, the Whale and other native symbols.

Spokesmen emphasized and re-emphasized their desire to retain the Indian heritage of music, dancing and handicrafts.

Chief Nelson Kietlah, of Ahousat, a realistic young leader who held his audience with the skill of a natural orator, said, "We must not lose this. It would be a crime if it faded away. It is the one precious thing we hold that is our own."

As Chief Kietlah said "integration, not assimilation, is our aim. It has begun already. Tonight our white friends are integrating with us." His mixed audience responded with howls of laughter and round after round of applause.

The dances and rituals of the Indians are not paganistic, several speakers declared. George Clutesi termed the rituals "an expression of our way of life. We sing and dance to express our feelings. Tonight we dance from pure happiness."

And so it seemed as a very elderly man from Ahousat, beat on a single-sided drum, and began dancing to its ever-increasing tempo. His body actually seemed to grow young again as he beat out a tempo that would have put many a young brave to shame.

Chief Alex and Mrs. McCarthy from Ucluelet led a large group in songs, as one of the younger men darted and swooped in time to their music with the agility of a professional dancer.

If all the scope of the centre is fulfilled, if the plans for counselling, handicraft and cultural enrichment, vocational training and employment help come to pass, if the mistakes that will certainly be made are turned into stepping stones toward greater success, if all the goodwill and interest generated at the opening can be sustained by both Indians and non-Indians, then the Port Alberni Friendship Centre should go on to set an example for other groups throughout B.C.

Integration has truly begun with the official change of name. First act of the council of the new society was to drop the word Indian from its name, and become officially the Port Alberni Friendship Centre.

Thetis, Kuper Islands and Cowichan

Free Calling Offered
If Subscribers Agree

The B.C. Telephone Company has offered to conduct a plebiscite by mail for subscribers on Thetis and Kuper Islands for free calling with Duncan and Ladysmith.

The proposal to conduct a plebiscite for free calling was submitted by L. A. Huxtable, district manager at Nanaimo, to the Thetis Island Ratepayers' Association and was accepted by members at a recent monthly meeting.

Mr. Huxtable said ballots will be mailed to all telephone subscribers on Thetis and Kuper Islands during November.

If the 75 subscribers vote in favor and approval is received from the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada, free calling will be implemented by September, 1966. In addition to a general improvement in service on the islands, Direct Distance Dialing will be provided at the same time.

COSTS UP

The plan known as Extended Area Service will add some 7,000 telephones to the present Thetis-Kuper Islands free calling and would result in a slight increase in monthly rental rates.

Calling to and from Duncan and Ladysmith is handled by long distance and the applicable charge is made for each call. This charge will be abolished when free calling is instituted. Thetis Island is approximately five miles east of Chemainus.

Festival
Of Arts
Success

COURTENAY — The first Festival of the Arts in Courtenay at the weekend was hailed as a success with more than 2,000 attending the two-day event.

The festival was divided into two sections, one being devoted to stage entertainment which described the various facets of art as communication.

Some 500 players took part in this section including the Courtenay Little Theatre selections from Hamlet by Graham Woodward and Macbeth by Joy Hibberd and Doug Reid. Co-Val choristers gave selections from Brigadoon and the evening was rounded out by selections given by religious choirs and the Comox Valley Band.

The second section attracted a large audience and was a demonstration by local artists of the visual arts.

Negligence
Trial Starts

NANAIMO — The criminal negligence trial of Eardley Lestock-Kay opened here Monday at fall sittings.

The 20-year-old is accused in the death of six-year-old Randy George Schwartz when the youngster was thrown from his tricycle after being hit by a car, March 6.

POLICE EVIDENCE

Most of the evidence Monday was given over to an RCMP reconstruction of the tragedy.

Constable R. De Armand told the court of tests he had carried out with the accused's car. He testified he had measured skid marks 138 feet long at the scene of the accident on Cliff Avenue and had found traces of paint from the boy's tricycle on the accused's car.

DRIVEN CAR

The constable said his tests showed the tricycle would have been visible for 327 feet on the night of the mishap. He added he had driven Lestock-Kay's car, equipped with power brakes and found after a panic stop skid marks measuring 84 feet. This was at a speed of 43 mph.

The accident took place in a 30 mph zone.

The case is being heard before Mr. Justice Victor Dryer.

Two Homes Hit
By Cat Burglar

NANAIMO—The cat burglar is on the prowl again here. Sunday night he stole $400 from the home of Mrs. W. A. Barker, Hammond Bay Road. He gained entrance through a basement door and took the money from a wallet. Same night across the road at the home of Arthur Johnson, he garnered $40 from the head of the household's pants hanging in a bedroom. This time the thief was not at all bashful and entered through the front door. This is the 11th time the cat burglar has struck within the last fortnight.

Ladysmith

Sewer Tenders
Given Approval

LADYSMITH — Council gave approval here last night to tenders totalling more than $200,000 for the initial work on the $550,000 sewer project.

Work is expected to start early next month on the installation. Two contracts were awarded to suppliers, Canadian Johns-Manville Co. Ltd., will supply asbestos pipe valued at $73,589 and cast iron pipe will be supplied by John Davidson Co. Ltd., for $9,356.

Successful bidders on installation work were Nanaimo Divers Services Ltd., who bid $19,970 and H. D. Contracting Ltd., who bid $99,848.

Ladysmith Little Theatre Association reported to council they are unable to find the $3,000 necessary to renovate the Old Market School to the safety specifications of the provincial fire marshal.

The group ran into trouble when they asked council to consider an extension of the five-year lease on the use of the building.

In view of the condition of the premises council decided that the present lease expires in December, a one-year extension will be permitted but only for rehearsal use. Despite a dissenting vote by Ald. John Cochrane council gave approval to a request by the Royal Canadian Air Cadets in the Agricultural Hall on Sundays.

Construction activity in the Ladysmith area continues at a brisk pace. Permits were issued to a total value of $48,010 during September to bring this year's total to date to $392,000.

Dog owners who allow their pets to wander at large are one step nearer D-day as council gave final approval last night to a tougher dog control by-law. The new regulations have been forwarded to the provincial department of municipal affairs for approval and will call for a fine of $5 on owners whose animals are picked up.

If it is necessary to issue a summons then the fine will be for not more than $25. A system of licensing will also be introduced.

Bennett Urged
To Return

PORT ALBERNI — Eldon Woolliams, Conservative MP for Bow River in the last house, has invited Premier Bennett to return to the Conservative party he left in 1951.

"Bennett has a bunch of rag-tails and bobtails up for election," Mr. Woolliams told a Conservative election rally Saturday.

MOTHER PARTY

"Why doesn't he (Bennett) return to his mother party and really serve Canada?"

Premier Bennett left the Conservative party to sit as an independent in the B.C. legislature in 1951. That same year he joined the Social Credit party. Mr. Woolliams said there were only two parties to vote for in the Nov. 8 federal election.

"Either you want Pearson or Diefenbaker as prime minister. Only the Liberal and Conservative parties have done anything in the past for Canada or will do anything in the future." He also took aim at the New Democratic Party, in a pre-meeting interview. "The CCF was in power in Saskatchewan from 1944 to 1964," said the Conservative. "And it's the only province in Canada with a population loss. With its share of gross national product almost equal to Alberta's, how come Saskatchewan has a loss of population when even the Maritimes, who have been in a bad way financially, have gained in population?"

LOST MONEY "Furthermore, every Crown Corporation started by the CCF in Saskatchewan lost money. Both Power and Telephone Corporations were established when Douglas went in, and they're the only two that made money."

"His wool factory, his boot factory, his lumber board, all those and others instituted by Douglas lost money and finally close up."

"The only corporation that made money during Douglas' time was Clarence Fines, the provincial treasurer, and he left the province with so many millions under Socialism that he has never come back. He is afraid to face income tax charges and afraid to face the average man in Saskatchewan." Mr. Woolliams charged.

"Where is Clarence Fines? That's what I want Mr. Douglas to explain," Woolliams demanded.

Winding up with a final blast at the Social Credit Party he charged that in 15 out of 85 ridings in Ontario, the Social Credit Party got fewer votes than there were rejected ballots. "Outside of the Creditists in Quebec and the groups in Alberta and B.C. running Social Credit candidates elsewhere are only window-dressing," he said.

Dogs Must Be Licensed
In Unorganized Areas

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — A little known law will be enforced in the unorganized territory south of Duncan, RCMP Const. William Saunders said here Monday.

Const. Saunders said that under the Sheep Protection Act, all dogs, including those in unorganized areas, must be licensed, and with the recent receipt of complaints concerning the killing of sheep by marauding dogs, the police must act.

The police detachment received a complaint from William Chornlesky, of Shawinigan-Mill Bay Road, who reported he had 15 sheep killed by dogs since June.

Mr. Chornlesky made his complaint Sunday when he found another of his lambs had been killed and a second seriously injured. Saunders said, "In view of these complaints now being received from sheep owners, enforcement of the act will be made."

He said owners of dogs can purchase licences at the local police station at Shawinigan Lake. The fees are $1 for males and $2 for females.

"But it is partly a matter of funds. Right now we are working closely with the council at Friendly Cove. They have suggested and we are trying to get a radio telephone system in for them, until the telephone company's microwave service is available.

"Because of the winter weather situation, planes are not often able to get in, any more than the boats can make it out." At present the Tahsis Prince calls once a week at Nootka dock and contract for a new dock has been let to Tom Gibson and Sons of Tofino. But as far as I know, the work is not yet underway.

Meantime the band at Friendly Cove does not look forward to winter and the raging storms of the Pacific, knowing that any outbreak of disease or major emergency finds them cut off from help almost as completely as they were 300 years ago.

'Elite In Control'

GRANDE PRAIRIE (CP) — "It's a case of a small corporate elite," T. C. Douglas, NDP national leader, told an election rally Monday that Canada is an economic dictatorship, "run increasingly for the special privilege of 'Canada' were prosperous."

Announce New Healing Substance...
Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months. This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator). Satisfaction or your money refunded.

"but affluence depends on who you are." He said the Liberal government's own figures show 20 per cent of the Canadian people are living in poverty and another 20 per cent in "borderline poverty."

The top 25 per cent of those who pay income tax receive 45 per cent of all the national income, after taxes," Mr. Douglas said. "But 2,000,000 Canadians don't earn enough to pay any income tax at all."

Income distribution is inequitable and unfair through different regions and different occupations in Canada, Mr. Douglas said.

GIANT REBATE Canadian agriculture is headed for bankruptcy, he said. Consumer goods prices climbed 30 per cent between 1952 and 1961, while the price of farm products declined 16 per cent in the same period.

"Yet the Liberal government this spring agreed to rebate $50,000,000 to three automobile companies, without even getting parliamentary approval."

Pearson Pays
'Home' Visit

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Monday that if the current election campaign was a beauty contest, he would have no chance of winning at all.

He was speaking to a crowd of about 200 in the Legion Hall in this lumber town of his home riding of Algoma East.

His Conservative opponent is television personality Joel Aldred.

After his meeting here, a four-year-old girl trailed Mr. Pearson out of the hall. She was carrying an orange balloon with "Joel Aldred" written on it. Mr. Pearson stooped to say goodbye to her.

The prime minister made a homey, seven minute speech after the school band and majorettes had performed in front of the platform.

Mr. Pearson said: "It is always a pleasure to come back where it all began 17 years ago."

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker told Conservative members of the Ontario legislature Monday that he expects to form a minority government after the Nov. 8 federal election, according to a reliable source.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who addressed the government caucus for about 55 minutes, was reported to have given a seat-by-seat rundown of ridings where the Conservatives expect to pick up strength, and others where they are apprehensive.

He said the party would gain 13 seats in Quebec. However, he gave no specific number for Ontario.

Switch
Effort
Flayed

SMITH FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Social Credit leader Robert Thompson Monday condemned what he called efforts to have six Social Credit MPs swing their support to the Liberals after the 1965 federal election.

"Such actions are not those of persons dedicated to integrity," he said at a press conference here.

The Liberals captured 129 seats in the election and a statement of support by the six Social Credit members would have assured them of a voting majority in the Commons. However, the six later repudiated their statement.

Mr. Thompson said Transport Minister Pickersgill probably did "nothing illegal" in the affair of the six. But, if his conduct did not meet the requirements of the code of ethics drawn up by Prime Minister Pearson for cabinet ministers, then Mr. Pickersgill should leave the government.

De Roo Criticizes Document

VATICAN CITY (CP-AP) — Two Canadian bishops criticized Monday a Vatican council document on priesthood as not being clear or lucid enough. The views of Bishop Remi de Roo of Victoria and Bishop Emile Charbonneau of Hull, Que., were made known in the council's daily press communiqué. Their words were paraphrased.

Bishop de Roo was reported as saying the aim of the commission has been to show how the pastoral mission of the priest illuminates and unifies the ministry and his life.

Without this central idea, the bishop said, the text would be lacking in theological dynamism and would remain the prisoner of a static vision of the priesthood. The laudable intention of the drafting commission was not always clear to the reader of the text.

The priest must find a balance between his ordinary priestly duties and the new responsibilities arising from the dramatic evolution of the modern world, he said.

The words of Bishop de Roo were paraphrased as follows: "The schema does not treat profoundly or lucidly enough the grave question of the relationship between priests and bishops. It is lacking in the true theology of priestly obedience."

"Priestly obedience is not simply passive submission to one's bishop, but rather an active communion of wills. The priest is not merely an executor of episcopal orders. His assistance is first and foremost in his real sharing in the pastoral mandate of his bishop. This makes him a genuine collaborator of the bishop."

Meanwhile, the Roman Catholic eucharistic council got back its religious freedom declaration, with basic principles kept intact but with shifts of stress to meet arguments from conservatives. The final round of voting on it starts today.

are going to get a big kick out of this.

The new Volkswagen has a bigger engine.

It's about 20% more powerful than this year's model. So it accelerates much faster. And it doesn't get short-winded on long hills any more.

Surprisingly enough, our 1966 engine doesn't drink any more gas than the old one did. Volkswagen owners will still get around 38 miles to the gallon. The only difference is that they'll get them faster from now on.

In case you think we've just gone power mad, we'd like to make it clear that the engine isn't the only thing that's new about the 1966 Volkswagen.

For instance, we've also put in a new, thermostatically-controlled heater booster to keep VW owners warmer in winter. We've fitted safety locks to the front seat backs so they won't tip forward when the car brakes quickly. And we've added a four-way emergency flasher to make night stops less hazardous.

There are some other new features, too, but we're saving those to show you when you come in.

One last thing. Some people thought we'd changed the shape of our car this year. They needn't have worried. It's still pretty difficult to tell a 1966 Volkswagen from a 1965 or even a 1955.

Unless you're driving it, that is.

Nominations

For

House

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A late surge of political hopefuls jumped into the Nov. 8 federal election race Monday as nominations closed across the country.

A total of 1,013 candidates were nominated for the 265 House of Commons seats compared with a record 1,023 who contested the 1963 general election.

As usual, a scattering of late-blooming independents in Quebec helped swell the total. Quebec ended with 18 last-day candidates—13 independents, four New Democratic Party and one Creditiste. There also were four withdrawals from the unofficial lists—two independents and two NDP.

TWO MEMBERS

The deadline for submitting nomination papers in 242 of the 363 ridings was 2 p.m. local standard time. Nominations closed two weeks ago in 21 far-flung constituencies where extra time is needed to distribute election supplies. Two ridings, Queens in Prince Edward Island and Halifax, return two members each to the Commons.

The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are fielding a full slate of 265 candidates as they did in 1963. The New Democrats have nominated 255, 23 more than in 1963, Social Credit 87 and Creditiste 76.

PARTY CHANGE

There also are 12 Communists, the same as in the last election, and 53 independents. Of the 265 members in the last House, 237 are seeking re-election but at least one won't make it. Gerard Girouard, elected as Social Credit member in Labelle in 1963 but who later joined the PC party, is contesting Hull where Liberal

Peace Unit, Tanks In Show of Force

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—About 2,000 inter-American peace force troops, backed by American tanks, moved into the rebel area of this Dominican capital Monday on a peace-forging mission.

Bands of youths ran through the streets shouting slogans against the United States and Brazil, whose soldiers make up most of the force. Once when a crowd gathered, Brazilian troops put on gas masks ready to hurl tear gas. But there were no incidents.

PARTISANS ANGRY

The operation was ordered by Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy and whipped up the anger of rebel partisans in the heart of the city. Three shots rang out during the early part of the pre-dawn move but there was no official word as to what the shooting was about. The troops were called in to put an end to a wave of violence that has claimed more than nine civilian lives in the city in the last week. The deaths, resulting from shooting incidents, demonstrated that a considerable number of weapons remain in the hands of civilians.

SEARCH PROBABLE

There were reliable reports that a vigorous search for arms would be undertaken during the next two days.

The move appeared to have paralysed almost all business activity in the centre of the city. Most government offices were closed, the presidential palace was nearly deserted.

Sixty Cubans Reach Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Sixty Cuban refugees, including 17 children, arrived Monday night in the first boat to reach Florida since last Friday and the U.S. Coast Guard rescued 27 others from choppy seas.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Pakistan has accused India of carrying out wholesale extermination in Kashmir on a scale comparable to the Nazi massacre of Jews in Germany.

In an impassioned and highly emotional plea before an emergency session of the security council, marked by India's walkout during a recess, Pakistan Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto accused India of having "no conscience—no integrity."

Appealing for the security council to take steps toward a political settlement of the Kashmir dispute, Bhutto warned that "if the United Nations remains unmoved, Pakistan will take up the challenge and will be prepared for the ultimate consequences—of life or destruction."

He accused India of taking advantage of the month-old UN-ordered cease-fire "to exterminate the population of certain areas in Jammu and Kashmir."

Soviet ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko protested the building up of UN military observers along the Kashmir ceasefire line and called for their withdrawal from Kashmir "within three months."

U.S. ambassador Arthur Goldberg, supporting secretary-general Thant, quickly countered the Soviet protest by stating the U.S. fully supports the Security Council action in the Asian subcontinent.

Referring to the Nazi extermination of Jews in Germany, Bhutto accused India of "perpetrating similar acts" in Kashmir.

Noting the walkout of Indian Foreign Minister Swaran Singh—"He does not want to hear the truth!" Bhutto said that his country was not prepared to face "extermination or dishonor."

"The people of Jammu and Kashmir are a part of us," he

Peking Stand Rebuked

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Algeria has informed delegates attending the Afro-Asian summit's preparatory committee here that 41 countries have agreed to attend the conference Nov. 5.

The Algerian report came Monday as China stepped up its offensive to have the twice-postponed summit meeting adjourned a third time.

An official Algerian statement did not say at what level the 41 countries would be represented at the Algiers conference.

Delegates who attended Sunday's committee meeting said China appeared more determined than ever to postpone the summit, and to prevent the discussion going before the Afro-Asian foreign ministers who are due to meet here Thursday.

Dejection at Houston space centre

Target Goes Astray

Failure Stymies Space Hunters

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Two dejected Gemini space hunters were stymied Monday before they got started—their intended space target lost somewhere short of orbit, broken and perhaps burned to bits in its fall from the sky.

"No joy, no joy," was the epitaph sounded by the radar men scanning the orbital path intended for the Agena target vehicle. The 103,000-mile space chase—a rendezvous-and-docking mission—was postponed until probably early next year.

DISAPPOINTMENT

"Disappointment" echoed in every statement from United States space officials. Still in the Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft on the ground when the scrub was announced, command pilot Walter Secord said: "Gee, I'm sorry." Later on the ground, he told the launch crew:

"It was a beautiful spacecraft and had conditions been otherwise, we're confident we could have gone without a sweat."

NO HOLD UP

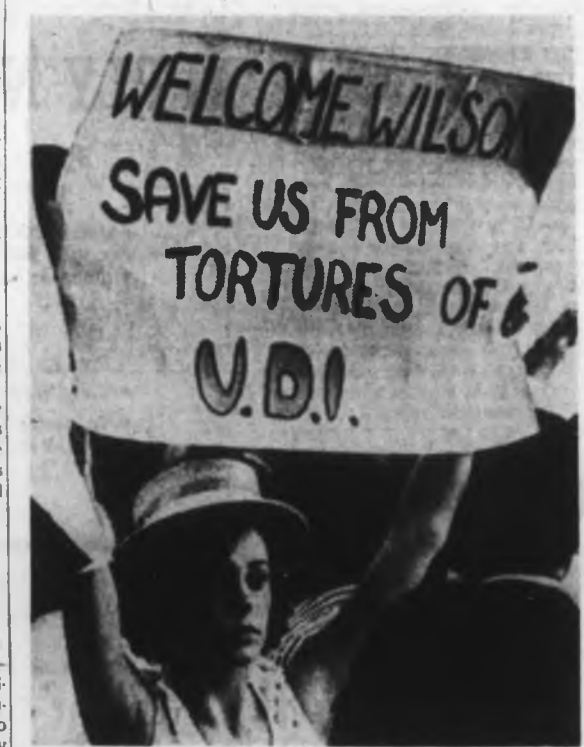

But both Robert Seamans, associate director of the U.S. space agency, and Robert C. Gilruth, head of the manned spacecraft centre, said the failure would not hold up the U.S. man-to-the-moon program.

Asked whether the failure would give the Russians a lead in the race to link up vehicles in space, manned flight chief George Mueller said: "Clearly,"

Avert Rhodesian Tragedy

Negroes Cheer Wilson But Smith Stays Home

White girl greets Wilson for native cause

SALISBURY (AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Wilson arrived here Monday night for a showdown with Rhodesia's Prime Minister Ian Smith, saying he had come "to avert a tragedy."

While 6,000 Negroes cheered him, the British leader made it clear that he wants at all costs to head off a grab for independence by Smith's white Rhodesian government.

He told an airport press conference: "I want to do everything possible to avert a tragedy if a certain action were to be taken. That is why I am here."

Wilson refused to say what counter-measures the British government would take if the Rhodesian government took the plunge for independence from Britain.

Wilson's government has warned it would consider any unilateral declaration of independence tantamount to treason and rebellion by Smith's government, which rules 4,000,000 Negroes and 250,000 whites.

Smith was not at the airport to receive Wilson, but Rhodesian officials said protocol did not demand Smith's presence. Deputy Prime Minister Clifford Walter DuPont was the chief Rhodesian official in the airport receiving line.

Near-Record Wheat Sale Confirmed by Sharp

TORONTO (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp confirmed Monday night that Canada has signed with Communist China one of the biggest wheat-sale contracts in history, worth more than $400,000,000.

Arriving for a political meeting in his riding of Toronto-Eglinton, the Liberal minister said estimates of the size of the deal by sources in the grain trade—$23,800,000 bushels worth about $463,000,000—were the minimum value of the contract.

Canada signed a contract in 1963 with the Soviet Union for 250,000,000 bushels. Mr. Sharp declined to give further details pending scheduled formal announcement Thursday giving credit arrangements.

Reds Send Fake Oils and Is Paris Burning!

Copley News Service

PARIS — Art and politics do not mix. When they do the result can make tempers rise and faces turn scarlet.

This is the case in Paris now in connection with the much-publicized exhibit of 100 French painting masterpieces loaned to the Louvre Museum by the Soviet Union.

The exhibit already had been shown in Bordeaux where it was a great success. In Paris it has attracted thousands of visitors since it opened in September. They have lined up at the Louvre to gaze at French paintings which had never been seen publicly in France.

The paintings shown were part of Russian collections from the days of Catherine the Great to the Soviet revolution.

The exhibit had been arranged under the auspices of Cultural Minister Andre Malraux, one of President Charles de Gaulle's closest associates. It was being held on an exchange basis, with the Louvre sending to the Soviet Union 50 of its most celebrated paintings.

But obviously this was not stressed. Only art was officially involved.

The exchange was part of a thaw in Franco-Soviet relations that has seen the establishment of closer political, cultural and economic bonds between the two nations.

Then a renowned international art dealer, Daniel Wildenstein,
